

MT 'middle school' plan recommended

The Miami Trace School District Committee, with a strong favorable vote, Monday night chose to recommend to the Fayette County Board of Education that a new school which would house two or three middle grades be considered.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said the proposal suggested that a school bond issue be placed on the November ballot and that the issue be for a new middle school to accommodate all students in grades 6, 7 and 8 or grades 7 and 8 as the school board and administration might determine.

It was further advised by the committee that the board should not make plans to close any of the elementary buildings immediately, but the buildings should be repaired and maintained at a higher level as part of the bond issue.

The committee recognized that the 11 buildings have different life expectancies and in general are old buildings, and feels a master plan should be adopted by the board for maintenance and final replacement of the buildings as the need arises.

VOTER APPROVAL of the issue would provide for needed regular classrooms, libraries, art and music rooms, storage space and closing of undesirable rooms in the elementary buildings. The committee feels the greatest value would no doubt be realized for the upper elementary students and with the new building could come a curriculum offering art, home economics, industrial arts, physical education, science laboratories, advanced classes and others which could never be realized in all the small operations.

All committee members indicated they feel strongly that the upper elementary or junior high age pupils are being short-changed under the present arrangement.

The recommendation for construction of a new school came after many meetings and school visits during the last few months.

BROOKE BAKER, a Newark architect, presented a summary of his finding from spending two days in the 11 buildings. He determined that the greatest problem was a lack of facilities for junior high pupils and the second ranking problem was the general gloom of the interiors, mainly due to wear and tear on the interior surfaces.

Baker also feels that control of the heating systems is a problem. Some of the strong points he observed were the adequate sites on which the schools are located, fire safety, and sound structural condition. He feels strongly that no additions should be placed on the old buildings.

The recommendation of the committee is to be reviewed thoroughly in the next few weeks with board action expected soon, according to Foster.

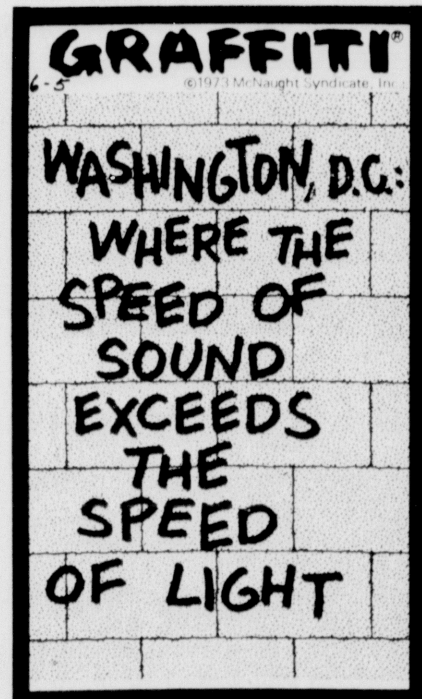

Senate votes on fuel plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was expected to vote today on a bill requiring the Nixon administration to draw up a nationwide gas and oil distribution plan.

A resolution attached to the bill Monday urges the states to lower their maximum speed limits to 55 miles per hour or by 10 m.p.h., whichever is greater, to conserve fuel.

President Nixon, who was given power by Congress six weeks ago to come up with an allocation plan, decided on a voluntary approach.

But Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., argued Monday that firm, not voluntary, steps are needed because the shortages have been contrived by the oil companies.

Ohio House defeats shield law bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House today overwhelmingly defeated a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to adopt laws protecting newsmen's information sources.

The vote was 62-28.

Loud chuckles broke out on the floor as the vote was tallied on the electronic board. Seven legislators spoke against the measure on the floor.

Rep. William B. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, the major sponsor, said the resolution was needed to give a sound constitutional base for Ohio's current shield law protecting newsmen.

Opponents contended it would do little. Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43

Stormy weather to stay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms raked Ohio again during the night and the last of a number of tornado warnings was lifted at daybreak. Weather forecasters said more of the same could be expected through Wednesday.

A tornado warning issued by the National Weather Service for Darke, Miami and Champaign counties after a funnel cloud was sighted south of Greenville was lifted at 7:45 a.m.

During the previous 12 hours, tornado warnings were in effect at times in Erie, Cuyahoga, Lorain, Franklin, Pickaway, Madison, Fayette, Union, and Auglaize counties.

Funnel clouds were sighted near Huron, Berlin Heights, London, Washington Court House and Youngstown, but apparently none touched down.

High winds uprooted trees, snapped power lines and blew down an 80-foot radio tower at Youngstown, where a half-inch of rain fell during a 15-minute period.

A concrete building was ripped apart by winds south of Findlay, causing some minor injuries.

The National Weather Service said thunderstorm activity will continue through Wednesday as warm, moist unstable gulf air streams northward ahead of a cold front that stretches southwestward to central Texas from a weak low pressure center over northern Wisconsin.

Fast-changing weather conditions should be expected, forecasters said, with sunny periods alternating with thunderstorms.

Highs today were to range from the low 80s in the northwest to the mid and upper 80s in the southeast.

'Funnels' sighted in Fayette County

Noisy thunderstorms swept through Fayette County Monday afternoon and evening, causing scattered power and telephone outages and resulting in two reports of funnel clouds.

The Sheriff's Department received two reports of funnel clouds although neither touched down.

The first funnel reportedly was spotted along U.S. 22 about four miles east of the city at 6:12 p.m. Another was reported at 8:38 p.m. on Ohio 38 near the Children's Home. The second sighting occurred nearly an hour after a tornado warning for the county had been lifted.

Both Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and Dayton Power and Light Co., reported scattered outages due to the storms but no major damage. Several transformers were hit by lightning and DP&L crews were out most of the night repairing damage.

Police and sheriff's department reported they had not received any reports of damage due to the storms, which, with a 3 a.m. rain shower, dropped .72 inches of precipitation on Washington C.H.

Dollar sinks

LONDON (AP) — Confidence in the U.S. dollar continued to sink in Europe today as the American currency hit new lows and the price of gold new highs for the fifth straight day.

Dealers again blamed the dollar's trouble largely on the Watergate scandal, as they have done each business day since the U.S. currency began its latest plunge last Wednesday.

But there appeared to be a difference in atmosphere. For the first time, leading bankers and treasury officials dropped hints that the present system of floating exchange rates may not be enough to avoid another international monetary crisis.

On Monday, the dollar suffered its worst fall of the year on European money markets, dropping two per cent in value against the West German mark and falling sharply against other leading European currencies.

When markets reopened today, the dollar was plunging again. It dropped from 2.6100 West German marks to 2.5850 marks in nervous, active trading, dealers said.

In Paris, the dollar dropped to 4.16 commercial francs.

Akron, asked, "How many times has a person been tried in the newspapers and not in the court?"

Weyandt referred to the Watergate scandal and said, "those people in Washington are being tried right now, whether or not that happens in the courts."

Some lawmakers complained that Batchelder's amendment was unnecessary since Ohio already has a so-called "shield" statute which could be changed without a constitutional amendment.

He said recent decisions by federal courts could invalidate the Ohio law or at least create legal doubts about its status.

MTHS grad follows in brother's footsteps

Glenn Gifford Christman Award winner

Glenn Gifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gifford, Rt. 1, New Holland, was named the 1973 winner of the Clarence A. Christman Award at a dinner meeting Monday night, co-sponsored by The Record-Herald and the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club, at the Lafayette Inn.

The fourth annual award, named in honor of one of the community's sports enthusiasts — late City Manager Clarence A. Christman Jr. — is designed to single out the most outstanding "Athlete-Scholar-Leader" in Fayette County.

The three-sport participant from Miami Trace High School was presented the award by Bill Junk, last year's winner. Glenn becomes the second member of the Gifford family to receive the award; his brother, Tom, won in 1970.

GIFFORD was selected from a field of eight candidates nominated by head coaches of major sports in Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

He was named the county's most outstanding athletic participant because of his high ranking as a student, his leadership in school activities and his involvement in community projects.

The selection was made last month by a permanent committee of community leaders. Chairman of the committee is John Breiner, and members are Laurence Dumford, the Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, Kenneth Payton, Russell Hatfield, Max Lawrence, Kenneth Craig and George Kuhlwein.

GIFFORD ranked sixth in his senior class of 242 at Miami Trace with an academic average of 3.71. He was vice president of the National Honor Society chapter and was a member of the high school honor roll all four years.

He is a member of the New Holland United Methodist Church, was president of the MTHS senior class, vice president of Student Council, of which he was a member two years, a member of the Hi-Y and Varsity-M clubs, served as a delegate to Buckeye Boys State as a junior and was president of his freshman class.

The 5-foot-8, 160-pounder was nominated by Fred Bernier, former head football coach at Miami Trace. He earned a total of six varsity letters in three sports.

He earned All-South Central Ohio League football honors both his junior and senior years and was named to The Associated Press' Class AAA All-Southeastern Ohio District football team. Gifford won All-Schol honorable mention honors in basketball.

Gifford joins Bill Junk, 1972; Jeff Blake, 1971; Tom Gifford, 1970, and Don Bennett, 1969, as the winners of the Christman Award.

OTHER outstanding candidates placed in nomination by their head coaches were Mike Domenico, Washington C. H.; Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace; Chuck Bath, Washington C. H.; Tony Grooms, Miami Trace; Chris Shaper, Washington C. H., and Stephan Jones and Jeff Moore, of Miami Trace.

Coaches who attended to formally place their candidates in nomination at the banquet were Maurice Pfeifer and Gary Shaffer, of Washington C. H., and Jan Stauffer, Dave Pellier and Charles Wallace, of Miami Trace. Delmar Mowery, athletic director at Miami Trace, was a guest of the Kiwanis Club. The Rev. Gerald Wheat, president of

Mrs. Harmony testifies on Gemstone file

Watergate hearings resume today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Watergate committee today refused to delay its televised hearings, then heard a former Nixon campaign secretary testify that she typed wiretap logs, intelligence memoranda and a phony Democratic document.

The secretary, Sally J. Harmony, denied under questioning that she had told friends that she lied to the Watergate grand jury last year, or that she had been given a trip to Florida as a reward.

The committee's hearings resumed after it unanimously rejected a former request by the new special prosecutor, Archibald Cox, for a three-month delay.

Mrs. Harmony testified she was not aware at the time she did the work that she was typing transcripts of illegal wiretaps. And she did not disclose the contents of those transcripts, conferring with her attorney each time such questions arose. Disclosure of that information has been forbidden by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

She told of notations that information she transcribed from other sources had come from agents called Ruby 1, Ruby 2 and Crystal. Mrs. Harmony said she didn't know who they were.

Mrs. Harmony told of typing transcripts on stationary labeled "Gemstone."

Antioch strikers not giving up

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — About 30 student strikers picketed the administration building at Antioch College again today, jeering school personnel reporting for work.

The pickets banged on noisemakers, including tambourines, pots and large garbage cans, but permitted employees and students to enter the building.

Greene County Sheriff Russell Bradley said he had no immediate plans to return to the campus for a third confrontation with the hard core of striking students.

"If they just picket and don't interfere, they are not in violation of the court order," Bradley said.

Bradley led more than 100 officers, many of them from surrounding counties, onto the campus for a second time Monday to take down barricades from the administration building.

The amendment provides that the General Assembly may pass laws "which establish a privilege against the disclosure of any information or the source of information, even when said source is an officer of any court, which is procured or obtained by a reporter, journalist, broadcaster, or other similar person."

Joining with Batchelder in introducing the amendment was freshman Rep. Claire M. Ball Jr., R-91 Athens, former Athens County prosecutor. Ball said he and Batchelder became interested in the problem after reading in a Sigma Delta Chi journalism publication about reporters being jailed for refusing to

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate committee, began the session by announcing rejection of the Cox request. He said the panel had decided in executive session that "duty requires it to decline" the delay.

Ervin cited the Senate resolution ordering the investigation, and said his panel does not share the fear expressed by Cox that the courts might permit the guilty to go free because of the televised inquiry.

Furthermore, Ervin said, the committee believes there is a greater likelihood of fair Watergate trials in "an atmosphere of judicial calm" after the Senate investigators have completed their task.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., concurred, and said the committee has a responsibility "to conduct the public business in public view."

And so, after a closed session that lasted more than an hour, the Watergate panel called Mrs. Harmony, secretary to Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy when he was counsel at the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President.

Mrs. Harmony, an attractive blonde in her early 40s, testified that she had typed intelligence memoranda and logs of telephone conversations for Liddy. She said the name of R. Spencer

On both occasions, Bradley's deputies managed to avoid any serious incidents and there were no arrests.

A physical education instructor said today he was considering seeking a temporary court restraining order limiting the number of pickets in front of the building.

The campus mood, which had been on the side of the strikers since the school was closed April 20, had obviously changed when the facilities were to reopen for normal activities Monday. Many of the sympathizers said they were "turned off" by widespread vandalism in Antioch Hall, the administration building, which also has some classrooms.

"There is no way I am going to let them make another Kent State out of this," Bradley told a newsman. The tobacco chewing sheriff has chatted disclose information sources.

Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has a bill pending that would toughen Ohio's present shield law. It would prevent newsmen from being forced to disclose information obtained but not published or broadcast.

The House and Senate return today from weekend recess with several major items up for consideration, including the administration's $9.9 billion appropriations bill.

A Senate subcommittee headed by Finance Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, is expected to trim the Housepassed measure.

Oliver, a Democratic official whose telephone was bugged by the Watergate crew, appeared on some of these logs. But she didn't disclose what was said in the bugged conversations because that would violate wiretapping laws.

Mrs. Harmony said the telephone logs were typed on special colored stationery that bore the word "Gemstone" across the top.

On other occasions, she recalled, she transcribed tape-recorded conversations, apparently between E. Howard Hunt and a spy he had planted inside Sen. George S. McGovern's presidential campaign headquarters. She said the question-and-answer interview dealt with goods and services for the Democratic national convention.

Robert Reisner, a GOP aide who worked under Jeb Stuart Magruder, once the No. 2 man in the Nixon campaign organization, also was scheduled to testify.

Reisner has been named by convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. as one who might be able to support his story that the Watergate bugging operation had the prior approval of Magruder, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House Counsel John W. Dean III.

As the hearings in the Senate Caucus

Room continue under official protest, there were these other developments: —The White House said it will not furnish investigators with logs of any conversations between President Nixon and his ousted counsel, Dean, about the Watergate scandal.

The comment was in response to published reports that Dean met with the President 30 to 40 times on various aspects of the Watergate cover-up.

The Washington Post has reported that when Dean is called as a witness he will allege Nixon was deeply in-

Governors keep their hands off bugging scandal

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Democrats have decided against trying to bring President Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandal before the National Governors' Conference.

They decided to drop any organized Watergate move after some warned that such political issues are taking too much attention here from other national problems.

A suggestion by Democratic Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin that the Watergate affair has so paralyzed the federal government that President Nixon should resign failed to win endorsement from any of his colleagues on Monday.

"I think it is essential to try to focus attention on some of the other critical problems that are facing the country," Democratic Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota told newsmen as the conference turned today to the nation's energy and economic problems.

In a switch of plans, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was flying here to meet informally with the governors. Many of the governors consider Agnew to be the administration official most sympathetic to their problems because of his prior post as governor of Maryland.

He was expected to receive complaints from governors of both parties about the impact on states of the administration's impoundment of millions in federal funds voted by Congress.

Democrats, meanwhile, were redrafting proposals dealing with the economy and President Nixon's special revenue sharing proposals in hopes of making them acceptable to enough Republicans to gain the needed three-fourths vote when the conference takes up policy resolutions Wednesday.

One resolution calls for a return to strict wage and price controls to curb inflation.

The other urges federal assurances that the states won't suffer economically by the proposed switch from categorical grant programs, each directed at a specific problem, to special revenue sharing, under which states and localities would decide where the federal money would be spent.

GOSHEN, Ohio (AP) — The operators of the Appaloosa horse farm here say the smallest Shetland pony they have ever seen or heard about was born on the farm recently.

Dale and Donna Carman said the reddish brown pony stood only 13½ inches tall when it was born May 24.

The Carmans said other horsemen have predicted that the pony will never be more than 18-20 inches tall when it is full grown. The average Shetland pony is 45 inches tall when fullgrown and most newborn pony colts are 20 inches tall at birth, the Carmans said.

Yablonski murder defendant won't bargain with state

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The attorney for the lone remaining defendant in the Yablonski murder case has flatly ruled out the possibility that his client will try to strike a bargain with the state.

"That kind of thing happens when a client is interested in seeing what he can bargain for," said Harold Gondelman, attorney for Albert E. Pass, as the latter's murder trial opened Monday in Erie County Court.

"Mr. Pass," Gondelman continued, "says he has nothing to bargain for because he is innocent."

Pass, 52, the highest ranking former official of the United Mine Workers union yet charged in the case, stands accused in the Dec. 31, 1969, slayings of UMW reformist Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter. The state claims the murders culminated a union-inspired, union-financed plot.

Pass faces three counts of murder, one for each of the victims, and would face mandatory life imprisonment if convicted of first-degree murder on any or all of the counts.

Gondelman's comment about Pass's innocence, was in response to a

Skylab crew charts space walk plans

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab's astronauts and mission control today charted details for a daring space walk to try to free a jammed solar panel on the orbiting space station.

Success of the unprecedented attempt would nearly double the electricity in the Skylab vehicle. A power shortage is restricting experiments.

Space agency officials decided on Monday that there were no unusual safety hazards. They gave the green light for the effort that will send two of the astronauts outside the station, probably Thursday morning.

"Very good," Skylab commander Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. remarked when told of the decision. "We'll be ready."

Skylab program director William C. Schneider told newsmen Monday night that Conrad will decide who will take the excursion.

He felt, however, the commander would choose to do the most difficult job, scrambling some 25 feet down the side of the barrel-shaped workshop to attempt to free the panel, with Dr. Joseph K. Kerwin remaining near the open airlock hatch to assist.

The third crewman, Paul J. Weitz, would stay inside the station, radioing procedures to Conrad and Kerwin.

Asked about possible dangers, Schneider replied: "Pete's a smooth and cool cat who won't do anything unreasonable. If he got out there and saw he couldn't do it, he'd come back in."

Astronaut Russell Schweickart, the backup Skylab commander, has been practicing the space walk procedures in a huge water tank which provided some sensation of weightlessness. He briefed Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz by radio Monday night.

Schweickart told them to review the plans today and a lengthy conference would be held tonight between the astronauts and mission control.

"That's a moot question in this case," Gondelman said, "since Mr. Pass says he is innocent."

Only one juror, a youthful, slender farmer, had been seated by the time the first day's proceedings drew to a close Monday.

He was Ronald E. Wetmore, 26, a college graduate and father of two who operates a dairy farm with his own father and brother near the southern Erie County community of Union City.

Wetmore, who promptly was sequestered upon his selection, was the 42nd prospective juror interviewed in nearly 4½ hours of screening Monday.

In all, 45 persons were examined. The defense exercised seven of its 20 allotted peremptory challenges in rejecting prospects it found unacceptable, and the prosecution exercised three. Most of the remainder were excused for reasons of personal hardship.

Senate Democrats call for freeze on wages, prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring President Nixon's economic controls a failure, Senate Democrats are pushing legislation to freeze wages and prices for 90 days.

In a unanimous vote Monday, the Senate Democratic caucus vowed to take immediate steps to bring the proposal to a floor vote by attaching it to any appropriate bill.

The resolution endorsed by the caucus calls for a mandatory freeze of prices, profits, wages and salaries, rents, and consumer interest rates.

The caucus declared Nixon's Phase 3 economic controls "an unmitigated failure," and said "prices are now rising at the fastest rate in 22 years."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., sponsor of the resolution, added, "Everybody, businessmen as well as economists and others, agrees that Phase 3 has been a disaster."

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen following the closed session that 33 or 34 of the 57 Senate Democrats attended and none dissented.

The resolution commits Senate Democrats to attach a mandatory-freeze provision "to the first appropriate bill coming before the Senate."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a resolution co-sponsor, said the best vehicle might be a bill raising the ceiling on the national debt because it would be difficult for Nixon to veto.

The caucus action portends a new clash with the administration which is sticking by the relaxed controls of Phase 3. Advocates of a freeze may have picked up support since March and April when the Senate on two occasions defeated measures imposing a six-month freeze.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Monday that an across-the-board freeze is too drastic but "some form of selective controls may be needed."

Meanwhile, the administration tightened some price regulations for hospitals and nursing homes but

Lightning kills 2 near Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Algeo, 38, and his son Mike, 12, were killed at nearby Lake Snowden Monday night when lightning struck a tree under which they had sought shelter from a thunderstorm.

Their bodies were found today by a search party.

Athens County Sheriff Paul Brown said Algeo, a former professional golfer, and the boy apparently had been fishing and pulled their boat in to get out of the rain.

Most recently an Athens businessman, Algeo was associated in the 1960s with professional golfer Dow Finsterwald, who also is from this area, and later was an assistant pro at the Chagrin Valley Country Club near Cleveland.

State Senate due to award challenged seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate may make a decision this week to settle a contested state Senate seat.

The dispute, almost seven months old, involves Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, who temporarily holds the seat pending a final decision by the Senate. He is challenged by former Sen. Robin Turner of Marion.

The dispute is being settled with a seldom-used Ohio law which provides for the Supreme Court to receive all evidence, then turn the matter over to the Senate to make a decision.

Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, whose Elections Committee has been studying the dispute, said "I think we are about ready to make our decision, probably this week."

Turner lost to Slagle in the November election by 152 votes, then went to the Supreme Court under the statute permits ballot candidates contest an election.

Turner maintained that he should be declared the winner because there were balloting irregularities in the 26th District, which includes all or parts of eight counties.

He said his and Slagle's names were not rotated on ballots in Marion County, as the law requires, and that ballots were not kept under lock and key in Crawford County. An official record resulted in Turner losing four votes.

Aronoff's committee, which has had the case about two months, faced a major problem because the GOP Senate majority could be increased from 17-16 to 18-15 if it removes Slagle.

Republicans dominate the committee 5-4. Senate GOP leaders do not feel secure with the one-vote advantage because of possible defections from GOP positions.

Stocks make slight gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved higher today after opening lower in what analysts said was a technical rally after five days of steep declines.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 9.79 at 895.70. The Dow had closed Monday down to 885.91, its lowest point in 18 months. Big Board advancing issues today outpaced losers 694 to 492 in slow trading.

The analysts said that while the negative factors—Watergate, the dollar crisis, soaring gold, and higher interest rates—were still present, the market was ripe for a technical rally as the Dow industrials approached 880.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 at 22.38. The Amex volume leader was Bowmar Instrument, up ¾ at 21½ after slipping more than 3 points the previous day.

The New York Stock Exchange's broad-based index of some 1,500 common shares was up 0.54 at 54.82.

Eastern Air Lines, down ¼ at 9¼ was the Big Board volume leader.

Car pools seen as one answer to car pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Would free parking prod you into organizing a car pool to work? How about a book of trading stamps each month for riding in a car pool—or walking or bicycling to work?

The mortgage banking firm of Walker & Dunlop of Washington posed those questions to employees last fall. So far, it reports, more than half are collecting the bonus.

The idea, of course, is to cut down on auto pollution by cutting down on auto usage.

A District of Columbia proposal to charge a $1 daily tax on each auto in a parking lot sparked the car-pool plan.

"In the process of opposing that proposal we decided that business people had to think up other solutions for the downtown parking and air pollution problems," said company spokesman Moira DeWilde.

The $1 tax failed to pass but the car-pool plan kept building.

Of the firm's 90 employees, 51 now participate. Some of those who don't really would like to but can't because they need a car in their work, said Mrs. DeWilde. She reported that seven employees collect the free parking—a sizable item in a city where downtown rates can run $2.50 to $3 and up on a daily basis. The firm pays $25 a month under a package deal with an adjacent lot, Mrs. DeWilde added.

The trading stamps cost $135 a month.

Carol Church is typical of those in the plan. She drove to work alone for 10 years. Every now and then she'd try the bus and give up in despair over the 40 minutes needed to travel the two miles from her home. Walking wasn't the answer and bicycling "proved just too hazardous in all that traffic."

The offer of free parking set her to looking for co-workers who lived nearby. She found one, who now collects the trading stamps.

Tree limb falls on auto; man slightly injured

A Washington C.H. man was slightly injured Monday afternoon when a large tree limb fell on top of a car under which he was working, police reported.

Officers said Robert Crider Jr., was working under a car owned by Doris Crider, 543 Leesburg Avenue, when the limb fell from a tree in a neighboring yard. The car was parked in the drive at the Doris Crider home at the time.

Crider suffered a laceration of the head and left leg. The hood and antenna of the 1964 model car were damaged.

An Eastside man was treated at Memorial Hospital after he took approximately 10 sleeping pills. The man was intoxicated at the time, police said. He was released following treatment.

Planning agencies study cooperation

Representatives of city, county and regional planning agencies met Monday night for a general discussion on ways to create a closer working relationship among the agencies.

Although no decisions were made at the meeting, members of the individual agencies are to discuss the suggestions which were presented.

Spanish monarchy may be in trouble

MADRID (AP) — Teetering on the brink of a monarchy, Spain is watching the end of one in Greece with more than passing interest.

Officially, there has been no reaction, and none is expected. But the dethroning of King Constantine of Greece, brother-in-law of Spain's future king, brings events close to home.

Friends of Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon say nothing has impressed the future Spanish ruler more than what has happened to Constantine.

Designated by Gen. Francisco Franco, supported by the army and the government hierarchy, the 35-year-old prince intends to do nothing to erode that support, informants say.

Underlining this view was the prince's presence Sunday beside the 80-year-old chief of state reviewing the annual parade commemorating Franco's victory in the Spanish Civil War. With Franco's wife was Princess Sofia, Constantine's sister and Juan Carlos' wife, who rushed back to Madrid from Rome after seeing her brother.

Constantine and his family have been frequent visitors to Zarzuela Palace,

Driver charged after collision

A driver was cited in one of two minor traffic accidents reported in Washington C.H. Monday by city police.

Eva W. Jett, 69, Greenfield was charged with a stop sign violation following a two-car collision at the intersection of Main Street and Circle Avenue Monday morning.

Police said the Jett car was northbound on Main Street and ran through the stop sign at the intersection, colliding with an eastbound car driven by Kenneth E. Sanderson, 19, of 507 Third St. Both cars were moderately damaged.

Cars driven by Peggy J. Jones, 31, Rt. 4, and Thomas Martin, 65, Rt. 6, were involved in a collision in the municipal parking lot at 3:05 p.m. Officers said both cars were backing from parking spaces when they bumped. Damage was slight.

Sabina Council studies plans for new subdivision

SABINA — Sabina Council met Monday night in a short session with discussion focused on facilities for a new subdivision.

Extension of the sewer system, addition to and improvement of streets, and proposed lighting for the subdivision were all discussed and will be considered in more depth at future meetings.

Routine bills were paid, and first reading was given to an ordinance which will close an alley off College Street. This was drawn up at the request of property owners adjacent to the alley.

11-day work stoppage ends at Lucasville state prison

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — An 11-day work stoppage by inmates at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville has ended and meetings were scheduled today between prison officials and representatives of a prisoners' union.

A union spokesman said Corrections Chief Bennett Cooper agreed to a meeting. The spokesman said an agreement will be sought with Cooper setting up negotiating procedures for inmates.

The superintendent of the Lucasville facility, Wilfred Whealon, said strike leaders still face disciplinary action.

More than half of the 966 inmates at the new prison took part in the strike. It was called by the Ohio Prisoners Union to press demands for higher pay and changes in parole board procedures.

Corrections officials said legislative action is required to settle most of the grievances. Officials said there were proper procedures which strikers did not follow for airing inmate complaints.

Prison officials last week interviewed inmates and segregated them into three groups—those wishing to resume normal activities, those wishing to resume the normal activities but wanting protection, and those wanting to take part in the strike. The decision to segregate inmate groups was termed a "strike-breaking tactic" by the union.

The union spokesman said the strike was halted as a demonstration of good faith and an effort to remove tension and threats from the discussions.

A change in command

Tonight marks the change in command of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce. Jerry Sheppard will turn over the reins of the organization to Fred Domenico who already has appointed committees and established a program of work for the 1973-74 year which officially begins July 1.

The Chamber, which is often thought to be a group of businessmen looking out for their own selfish interests, is more of a community developer. Its stated purpose of "Advancing the civic, economic and social welfare of the people of Washington C.H. and Fayette County" was proved during the past year.

The Physicians Committee of the organization attracted a new doctor to the community. The Education Committee set the wheels in motion for a community school concept which may become a reality within the next year. The entire Chamber has worked to assist a major industry to locate in Washington C.H. The Ambassadors have served as the greeters of new businesses to the community which not only provide services for the residents but provide jobs.

These are only a few of the areas in which the chamber has worked during the past year, and President Sheppard, the directors, other officers and members should be commended for the work they have done.

Plans for the new Chamber year are to be announced tonight at the annual banquet. President-elect Domenico has established 17 project areas to carry on the past work and to begin projects in new areas.

The annual membership campaign will begin the morning after the banquet. A goal of 450 members has been set to carry out the proposed work during the next season. A budget of $27,000, financed almost entirely with membership dues, has been adopted and includes the salaries of a full-time administrator, a secretary, and the same overhead expenses, such as rent, utilities, postage and printing, as any other business.

The program-of-work brochure, which will be distributed at the banquet, states that the board of directors believe that "your support and involvement in the coming year will make our community a better place in which to live, work and play." We also believe this.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Cult of Mao Chinese Stabilizer

YENAN, China — This loess country where the dust blows and the sun beats down was the cradle of China's revolution.

Here Mao Tse-tung completed the blueprint for the movement that was to transform China and shake the world. The cave dwellings and the primitive conference halls where the first soviet met are preserved as shrines.

Even though it has been tidied up for the Chinese who come as pilgrims to see where it all started, it was obviously a stern and rugged beginning.

So much has happened since 1935, when Yen-an was the capital of the first Chinese Communist state and surrounded by such an overwhelming hostile force that on Mao's decision the hardy survivors of the long march moved on to a more remote retreat.

Today the Chinese people are fed as perhaps never before in their history. The scourge of epidemics that took millions of lives has been eliminated. While there is a shortage of fully trained medical men, 1,300,000 "barefoot doctors" with six months of instruction in treating common ailments serve in even the remotest provinces.

But how to preserve the momentum of the revolution in an era of at least comparative prosperity with a new generation for whom the trials and tribulations of the founders is history? How to make sure that a new elite with special privileges will not arise?

been learning the bad lessons from the United States, not the good.

The French and the American revolutions had only a transitory result, since within a short time there was reversion, as he put it, to feudalism. Feudalism is equivalent, in the Chinese Communist vocabulary, to capitalism and the exploiting of class.

COULD CIRCUMSTANCES arise, the growth of a new elite, which might require the upheaval of another cultural revolution?

Premier Chou did not rule out this possibility. Yet, he felt that if the situation is kept in hand it should not be necessary. From the cave dwellings of Yen-an to the austere elegance of the Great Hall of the People in Peking, with its red carpets and its massive chandeliers, is the record of another long march in the history of Chinese communism.

In Mao's first cave, which he left after heavy Japanese bombing, are his writing desk, his washing bowl and the clay kang on which he slept. Alongside his second cave he tended a vegetable garden between meetings and conferences.

Mao's supremacy in the Chinese hierarchy is evident in a thousand ways. Although the statues and the massive portraits are not so prevalent, his words are spread by every media, not to mention word of mouth. Outside observers believe that in spite of his increasingly rare public appearances he has an important part in decision-making.

IN THE DEBATE over an agreed communiqué during the Nixon visit an interval of waiting followed each stage when, it was assumed, Mao was being consulted. From Premier Chou down to the lowest level Mao is credited with all major decisions.

As he has done before, Chou related how the chairman had initiated the telephone call to the American ping-pong team in Japan inviting them to Peking, the start of ping-pong diplomacy.

The cult of Mao, the cherished conviction of the supreme helmsman, is the stabilizer. In pauses between their labors — hard physical labor — workers read aloud to one another the sayings of Chairman Mao. Those sayings are apparently meant to be like the tablets Moses handed down from Mt. Sinai with a long reach into the future.

Scorning the Russians with their revisionism and their drive for hegemony, Chou warns against relaxation. Relaxation can undo all that has been achieved. Behind the deceptive talk of peace in the West, there is turmoil under the sun, and China must be prepared with the stern origins in Yen-an as heroic model for the future.

You could also shine in the theater (as actor, dramatist or director), or in any profession involving travel. However, you are an extremely restless individual and your eventual success will depend upon the steadiness and stamina for routine which you must develop yourself since, inherently, you loathe tedium and the humdrum so necessary at times. You are an extremely gregarious person, can meet and captivate people without even trying, and you are an expert at handling novel situations. You can pick brilliant ideas "out of the blue," put them in a nutshell and make them saleable; can delve into the extraordinary and come up with out-sized gains.

Readers sound off

on euthanasia

DEAR ABBY: If you never do another thing for humanity as long as you live, you should go down in history for taking a stand against prolonging the life of the terminally ill by means of gadgets and tubes. The "Living Will" which permits a person to express his wishes concerning his own fate should he become helpless beyond recovery was never more needed than it is today.

It is a shame that some of these doctors can't see those patients each day after they are transferred from the hospital to nursing homes to die slowly, and also see the families day by day as they sit helplessly by and watch their loved ones go through the painful slow dying process. Sometimes the patient is reduced to a vegetable, while the physical, emotional, and financial strain on the family is devastating. I just can't believe that God ever intended that anyone should be put through this kind of ordeal, or that doctors should practice this type of medicine.

I write this letter after watching a long drawn out death in my own family, and I want to say that your letter could do untold good in the prevention of such tragedies. Bless you for publishing information that may start people thinking about the plight of these pitiful old people whose lives are prolonged by tubes, and the families who become destitute during the process.

YOUR FRIEND IN DURHAM, N.C.

MISS VAN BUREN: You are not an authority on anything. Who do you think you are? God? God determines who shall die and when-not you or anyone else. May I deserve euthanasia if I ever read your stinking rotten column again!

A BELIEVER IN BUFFALO

DEAR ABBY: In response to your views on death and dying, as a member of the clergy, I would like to say one thing: AMEN! God loves you.

TED S. SPONSEL, Pastor
Bayshore Baptist Church
Daly City, Cal.

DEAR ABBY: Dying with dignity is important, but there are greater values. One of our sisters is dying a slow and painful death from cancer. I picked up her Bible to read to her and it fell open to Paul's letter to Colossians where she had marked the passage: "It makes me happy to suffer for you, as I am suffering now, and in my own body to do what I can to make up all that has still to be undergone by Christ for the sake of his body, the Church."

Abby, that sister is doing more for us now by patient suffering that she did even as an outstanding superior and administrator. Suffering can be redemptive. God will give us strength to bear whatever He permits to happen to us, if we but trust Him.

SISTER DANIEL, Daughter

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — The Watergate show on television resumes today on a one-day-per-network trail basis. This means NBC has the live coverage duty today, CBS Wednesday and ABC Thursday.

All three networks televised the first five days of hearings live. Alas, that coverage may have befuddled the viewer's memory. To test whether you recall the correct casts of the game shows, the soap operas and the hearings, here is a brief quiz:
"Three on a Match" stars (a) H.R. Haldeman; (b) John D. Ehrlichman; (c) Jeb Stuart Magruder; (d) none of these.
"Search for Tomorrow" stars (a) E. Howard Hunt; (b) G. Gordon Liddy; (c) Maxwell Smart; (d) every Washington reporter.
"Let's Make a Deal" (a)

John Dean III; (b) Amarillo Slim; (c) a used Skylab dealer; (d) a butcher faced with a week's meat supply and a four-week boycott.

"The Who, What or Where Game" stars (a) the CIA; (b) the FBI; (c) Jack Anderson; (d) Watergate's official scorer.

"What's My Line" stars (a) the Republican National Committee; (b) the Democratic National Committee; (c) every official in Washington; (d) the annual Orlando, Fla., shad derby.

"Guiding Light" stars (a) Ron Ziegler; (b) the State Department; (c) usually reliable sources; (d) some of these.

"Secret Storm" stars (a) the White House; (b) the Florida White House; (c) the Western White House; (d) all of these.

You'll find the right answers by tuning in each day.

Ohio Perspective

Bill against VD gains support

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to curb venereal disease, which supporters say is "outranked only by the common cold" in Ohio is expected to gain passage in the 110th General Assembly.

Already approved in the Senate and awaiting House action, the bill would require physicians to test pregnant women for gonorrhea the same as they already test for syphilis.

Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, is the main sponsor of the legislation, which has a priority endorsement of the Ohio Department of Health and other groups alarmed about the spread of VD.

The senator said that while gonorrhea is "not as lethal" as syphilis, it nevertheless "is one of Ohio's greatest health problems" and can have devastating effects on a mother's unborn child.

"Syphilis and gonorrhea together are outranked only by the common cold in Ohio," Jackson said. He said he had seen the statistics on the problem.

Monday wouldn't be a deterrent to operation of the testing, under the bill's provisions. It specifies that if a patient is unable to afford the tests—for either disease—the Health Department will make it without charge. A requirement for a physician to certify that the patient is unable to pay is taken out of the law.

In reporting a birth or stillbirth, the physician or other person required to make such reports would have to state whether a mother was tested during pregnancy, or as soon as possible after delivery.

The health directors of city or general health districts would be given some discretion in the law. The bill says that they may waive the reporting requirement under certain circumstances.

A waiver would be authorized if the director was satisfied the tests were contrary to a woman's religion, or if he was satisfied that the public health and welfare would not be "injuriously affected."

Two other bills dealing with VD have been introduced in the House by Rep. Donald Pease, D-54 Oberlin, chairman of the House Education Committee.

One of his proposals would require local boards of health to provide free treatment for VD and the other would require courses on the subject to be taught in the state's public schools.

OUTLOOK FOR MEAT

Spring and summer mean cook-outs for many families and this means increased demand for the tender, broilable cuts of meat usually preferred for this type of cookery. This may be a good time to keep an eye open for specials on cuts that are less popular during this season of the year. You may want to try a chuck roast, for example, cut into cubes, marinated and used for kabobs — fine for grilling. WHAT ABOUT PRICES?

Lots of factors affect the cost of the meat you buy. This includes costs to the rancher of raising the meat animal, costs of slaughter and processing, transportation costs, cost of selling meat at retail (butcher, packaging, etc.) and the costs of maintaining quality and sanitation standards in accordance with government regulations.

In addition, meat costs are affected by adverse weather conditions (of which we have had plenty this year). Late winter storms were responsible for the death of many new calves and young cattle in the Midwest. This and other factors will affect the supply available in late '73 and early '74.

With demand continuing at high levels, it appears that meat prices, especially beef, will stay at or near the ceiling levels for the next month or two.

Fruitful suggestions

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

AMERICANS often serve fruit as a first course, sometimes as a salad. In Europe, it is more often a dessert because its flavor has a natural sweetness that is supremely suitable for the grand finale of a banquet-size meal. But fruit can go anywhere on the menu. The point is to enjoy its goodness whenever you can.

Right now, the state of Washington is flooding the market with Washington red and golden Delicious apples. Good on their own, they are extra good when teamed with rhubarb, the sweet-tart fruit of spring. For this mold, the fruit flavors of apples, rhubarb, raspberries and pineapple are combined. Great for dessert, you can also accompany chicken, ham or lamb with:

APPLE-RHUBARB MOLD

1 (12-ounces) package frozen rhubarb or 1½ cup cooked, fresh rhubarb

2 (3-ounces) packages raspberry-flavor gelatin
1 (12-ounces) can (1½ cups) unsweetened pineapple juice
½ cup water

2 to 3 Washington red or golden Delicious apples, pared, cored and chopped to measure 2 cups

Cook rhubarb according to package directions. Stir in gelatin; cook and stir over medium heat until gelatin dissolves. Stir in pineapple juice and the water. Chill until mixture is partially set. Stir in chopped apples.

Spoon into a 6-cup ring mold. Chill until firm, 4 to 6 hours.

Mrs. Woods hostess to chapter

The home of Mrs. Donald P. Woods was the setting for the June meeting of Phi Beta Psi, Gamma Chapter.

Announcements included the proposed July trip to the National Convention at Miami Beach by Mrs. Susan Cleary, Gamma Chapter president. The annual picnic for Gamma active, associate and inactive members will be July 30. President Mrs. Cleary mentioned that the chapter presented a gavel to the newly formed Gamma Associate Chapter at the time of their recent installation.

Mrs. Birch Rice reported that she and Mrs. Wexley Cox will again be selling an all new collection of Christmas cards for the Fayette County Unit of the American Cancer Society. The benefit and support of Cancer and its research is the sorority national project.

Assisting hostesses Mrs. Larry Milstead and Mrs. Gene Elliott served refreshments.

July wedding is planned

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard L. Oesterle, Rt. 1, New Holland, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Melanie Sue, to Daniel Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gail F. Smith of Newark.

The bride-elect, a 1969 graduate of Miami Trace High School, will graduate Sunday from Ohio University, Athens, with a major in secondary education.

Mr. Smith, a 1969 graduate of Bishop Flaget High School in Chillicothe, will also graduate Sunday from Ohio University, Athens, majoring in business administration.

A July 21 wedding is being planned.

Mrs. Sheridan Guild hostess

The Mary Guild of First Christian Church met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Charles Sheridan, who also conducted devotions, using for her topic, "May, mother of John and Mark." She also read from the Book of Acts.

The lesson study was presented by Mrs. Milbourne Flee. Members participated by reading Scriptures pertaining to the study. Mrs. Esther Edwards read minutes of the previous meeting and roll call. There were 16 present who answered by their favorite month. Cheer cards were signed for the ill, and a discussion of the project of redecorating the church dining room. Mrs. Sheridan and Mrs. Sidney Bloomer served refreshments.

Marriage announced

The marriage of Mrs. Virginia Hampton of Wilmington to Alonzo Mongold, 432 Third St., has been announced.

The couple was married Saturday evening by the Rev. E.J. Wilson at the parsonage in Wilmington. They will reside in Washington C.H.

Cookout held in honor of graduate

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lentz, 7 Sante Fe, Middletown, were hosts at a cookout Sunday at their home. The occasion was the graduation of Miss Marjorie Lentz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lentz, 219 E. Temple St., from the University of Cincinnati. Miss Lentz received a bachelor of science degree in special education. She is presently teaching at Dyer School for the Mentally Retarded in Cincinnati. It was also her birthday and that of Ellis Ferris, of Parma, who was also a guest.

Wiperts attend art exhibit

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wipert, CCC-W, attended the opening of the 94th Annual Student Art Exhibition in Columbus June 1. The exhibition was held in the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts, and the exhibit hall and sculpture court of the Columbus College of Art and Design, where their daughter, Rebecca, has just completed her Foundation year.

Miss Wipert, a 1972 graduate of Miami Trace High School, is one of the students whose work was chosen for the exhibition. Her three-phase "Family Group" in Color Concept was put into the permanent collection of the school. Also, her 30 x 40 inch oil painting in the style of Art Nouveau has been selected for hanging in the college library. The painting is entitled "The Intricate Lie, as Told to Genevieve and her Daughter."

The evening included an Aesthetics Program in the Gallery auditorium, and refreshments in Derby Hall, where Miss Wipert served as one of the hostesses. The student exhibit will continue through June.

MONEY DOES MATTER . . .

By R. W. Tice

BELIEVE IT - YOU CAN REALLY SAVE WHEN YOU SPEND!

Spending money is one way of saving money, if you watch what you are doing!

Take buying clothes, for example. You'll consider 4 things, if you get your money's worth:

Planning: Develop your wardrobe around the clothes you already have and look for variety through accessories. Stay with one or two main color schemes.

Fit: Do not buy oversized clothes for children, but look for ample seams, deep hems or cuffs, and future alteration possibilities.

Fabrics: Carefully consider present day synthetics. Read the labels and instructions, follow cleaning directions, and watch size purchases, unless shrinkable of less than 1 per cent is guaranteed.

Timing: While a bargain is only a bargain if you need it, real savings can often be had if seasonal sales are anticipated and your buying time is planned accordingly.

Congratulations to all the graduates of the local high schools and may their future bring them the success they deserve.

Best Wishes to Herbert Crosswhite upon his retirement after 30 years of faithful service with the First National Bank.

Morgan shakes Matlack

Billingham stymies Mets with 3-hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan didn't get a hit in Cincinnati's 5-0 win over the New York Mets Monday night, but he stole the show as far as pitcher Jack Billingham was concerned.

"Walking Joe did it," said Billingham, who won his eighth game in 10 decisions with a three-hitter.

Billingham credited Morgan with unnerving Mets' pitcher Jon Matlack, as the New York lefty was working on a no-hitter with two out in the sixth inning.

Morgan walked, stole his 24th base of the season and drew three throws from Matlack as he danced off second base.

"Joe had him all messed up and he wound up throwing a hanging curve," said Billingham.

Dave Concepcion, who earlier broke up a no-hitter by Los Angeles' Al Downing, drilled the pitch to ceterfield and the Reds went on to score four runs in the inning.

"On the bases was the only place I was going to bother him," quipped Morgan. "I wasn't going to bother him at the plate. I don't know how he can be 2-8. I can name 20 lefthanders I'd rather face than him."

Concepcion agreed that it was Morgan's distraction that did it.

"I think he was worrying about Joe when he pitched to me," said the Cincinnati shortstop, who is having his finest season in the majors.

Billingham, who started Saturday's game with Pittsburgh but was removed in the first inning when struck on the heel by a line drive, then handcuffed the Mets. It was the New Yorkers third shutout in the last four games.

Harrelson's injury adds to Mets' woes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Would you like to have Willie Mays in center field, Cleon Jones in left, John Milner at first base, Bud Harrelson at shortstop and Jerry Grote behind the plate?

So would the New York Mets.

The New Yorkers' incredible run of injuries continued along with their recent slide Monday night when Harrelson suffered a fractured bone in his left hand during a 5-0 loss to the Cincinnati Reds and became the latest candidate for the disabled list.

Jones and Grote are currently on the list while Milner and Mays are recent removals, although Mays has yet to see action since coming off.

It was the fifth consecutive defeat for Jon Matlack, 2-8. The Rookie of the Year in 1972 hasn't won since April 28. Nor has he escaped the injury bugaboo. He suffered a hairline skull fracture when hit by a line drive last month and missed a couple of starts.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2 and the Houston Astros blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 7-0.

In the only American League action, the Milwaukee Brewers edged the Oakland A's 2-0 and the Boston Red Sox pounded the Kansas City Royals 9-3.

Tito Fuentes and Garry Maddox drove in three runs apiece while Tom Bradley hurled the Giants past the Pirates, stretching their winning streak to five games and increasing their lead in the West Division to three games over Los Angeles.

Bradley, 5-2, blanked the Pirates until the bottom of the ninth when they scored on a triple by Dave Cash, an infield out and Willie Stargell's 16th home run.

Dave Roberts fired a six-hitter and Jim Wynn hit his 12th home run as the Astros drubbed the Phillies and ended a losing streak at four games while extending Philadelphia's to seven.

Jim Colborn pitched a fivehitter and Bob Coluccio hit a homer to lead the Brewers over Ken Holtzman and the Oakland A's for their fourth straight win.

Carlton Fisk drove in four runs with a homer and basesloaded walk to pace the Red Sox to a nationally televised victory over Kansas City.

John Mayberry drove in his 51st and 52nd runs for Kansas City but the Royals were hurt by an error, three consecutive walks and a hit batter as the Red Sox scored four times in the third inning.

Girton team hoping to defend BR title

Girtons will be hoping to defend their 1972 Fayette County Babe Ruth League championship when this summer's schedule is launched.

The Girtons team compiled an impressive 11-3 record a year ago which included wins in its last six outings.

Tom Riley, a three-time all-star, sparked Girtons to the title with a perfect 5-0 pitching record, including a no-hit pitching performance over Sabina.

THE GIRTONS' talent was rich as outfielder Randy Cauley and shortstop Bob Mustain were named to the all-star team, while outfielder Leonard Bick received honorable mention honors.

Six regular players — Riley, Bick, Mustain, Cauley, Tony Redman and Jim Crabtree — were lost via the 15-year-old age limit and Girton coaches Gene Stillings, Tom Riley and Buck Cauley will be hoping to build another championship team.

Forming the nucleus of this year's team will be Ted Mercer, Rick Johnson and Jack James. Success also depends on the performances of last season's minor leaguers led by Jeff Elliott, Jeff Estep, Bob Brown, Kevin Bonecutter and Mark Burke.

Others on this year's roster include Dennis Clay, Kevin Pfeifer, David Wyatt, Sam McClelland, John Robinson, Tom Wilkins, Ray Croc, Gary Thompson, Bruce Cupp, Bill Knightly Dawn slated for Ohio Derby run

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Jersey Derby winner Knightly Dawn will run in the $100,000 Ohio Derby June 16 at Thistledown, the track reported.

Trainer Frank Martin said he would ship the 3-year-old colt to Ohio next week, the track said. Knightly Dawn has picked up seven victories in 23 starts during his two years of racing.

Bob Purkey's son lies near death, physicians baffled

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Bob Purkey Jr. felt good. He and his teammates, among the best junior college baseball players in the nation, were back from an afternoon of fun and were completing the day with a romp in the hotel swimming pool.

He sat at the edge of the warm, shallow water of the Frontier Motor Lodge pool, talking idly to his friends and probably thinking of the National Junior College Baseball Tournament in which they would play their first game the next night.

There was no warning—not in any of his 18 years, not in any of the seconds before 9:50 p.m. on May 24 when something failed in his chest and stopped his heart.

"I was talking to the other boys, and he just fell over on me," said Robert McSpadden, a dean at the Panama City, Fla., college Purkey attends.

McSpadden and some of the players got the 6-foot-2, 200-pound youth out of the water, and Coach William Frazier started giving him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while someone ran to a telephone.

The city fire department's rescue squad answered the emergency call at 9:52 p.m.

At 10:05 p.m., Purkey was in the emergency room of St. Mary's Hospital.

Robert T. Purkey Jr., son of a former major league pitcher and a top pitcher himself at Gulf Coast Junior College, has not been conscious since his attack.

He has been in a coma and listed in critical but relatively stable condition in the intensive care unit.

What happened to Bob Purkey Jr.? Why has an athlete who his father says was always "healthy as an ox" collapsed suddenly and lain for days in the twilight between life and death? Doctors are not certain what happened.

Cerebral hemorrhage has been ruled out. A spinal tap was performed soon after Purkey suffered the attack, and the resultant absence of blood proved there was no blood vessel rupture in the brain.

The youth's heart beat and other vital signs stabilized after he was in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Purkey Sr. of Bethel Park, Pa., have made the hospital their home since they arrived May 25.

A Gulf Coast team official said the incident traumatized the other players, who lost their first game chiefly because they felt guilty playing baseball while their teammate was critically ill.

Bob Purkey Sr. helped remedy that situation by sitting behind the Gulf Coast dugout for every game from May 26 through the final game Thursday—not specifically to inspire them to win, he said, but because his son would have wanted his friends to play their best in the national tournament.

The team eventually finished second.

"It was a long time coming," said Billingham, who had went after his eighth win in three previous starts.

The loss was the Mets eighth in the last 11 games, but worse, was the mounting injury list.

Shortstop Bud Harrelson was injured in a collision at second base while making a double play and suffered a finger fracture in his glove hand. A cast was applied and a doctor said he would be disabled for a month.

Cleon Jones and Jerry Grote, both regulars, are on the disabled list already and reserve catcher Jerry May's injury at San Diego was diagnosed Monday as a hamstring pull that will sideline him indefinitely.

Tonight, it's Jerry Koosman, 5-4, for the Mets against Ross Grimsley, 5-4.

Thunderstorms, tornadoes hit Midwest U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers and thunderstorms washed the nation's midsection today after erupting into dozens of tornadoes Monday from the central Plains to the Ohio Valley.

Thirty-six tornadoes were sighted Monday, according to the National Weather Service. Damage estimates ranged as high as $200,000 at St. Peters, Mo., where about 30 homes were damaged.

No injuries were reported. Property damage, downed power lines, uprooted trees and overturned cars and mobile homes were common in scattered areas throughout the Midwest.

Radio station towers at Youngstown, Ohio, and Edwardsville, Ill., were snapped by high winds generated by the twisters. Winds gusted to 60 miles per hour in thunderstorms in central Illinois and Missouri.

A tornado watch was in effect early today in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri.

Rainfall was heavy in places. Vichy, Mo., was hit with over 2 inches of rain. Park Falls, Wis., received more than 1½ inches; and Sedalia, Mo., and Eau Claire, Wis., got more than an inch.

Thundershowers were scattered over the Rockies and around Florida.

Fair, warm and humid conditions prevailed from Texas across the Gulf States, and much of New England was humid under cloudy skies.

Clear and pleasant conditions dominated almost the entire Far West.

New Scientist board chairman stresses action

Do more to "help humanity through spiritual means" was the appeal heard in Boston Monday by about 12,000 Christian Scientists from around the world, including several from Ohio.

David E. Sleeper, new chairman of the Christian Science Board of Directors, said at the annual meeting that interest in Christian healing is growing in various countries but much more remains to be done.

"The whole human race," he said, "needs the ministering, healing, saving support of the Christ. And we can serve that Christian purpose better than we're doing."

According to Mrs. Virginia C. Otis, assistant committee on publication for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Washington C. H., the five-year goal of the denomination — increased emphasis on spiritual healing — is being vigorously emphasized at the local level.

Suspect nabbed in bank robbery

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP)—A suspect bank robber was arrested Monday after a shootout with Sheriff's deputies and Ohio highway patrolmen in rural southern Shelby County.

Police did not identify the suspect, but said a large quantity of cash was confiscated.

The gunman fled to the area after allegedly robbing a branch of the Citizens Baughman Bank in Sidney. The amount of money taken was not disclosed.

At one point the man reportedly stole a police cruiser. He was caught following a 30-minute chase on foot, police said.

Extra-high platform shoes have been criticized by driver education instructors as possibly hindering brake and gas pedal maneuverability.

	South	West	North	East

3♥	Pass	3♥	Pass
4NT	Pass	5♣	Pass
6♥

Opening lead — ten of clubs.

It is not easy to see how South can make six hearts against best defense, but actually the slam is ice cold if declarer plays correctly.

He wins the club with the ace, draws East's trumps, discarding a diamond and a spade from Dummy, cashes the king of clubs, and plays a spade to the ten.

East cannot afford to win with the ace, since that would make life easy for declarer, so he ducks. South thereupon trumps the jack of clubs, producing this position:

South

♦ A K 5

South cashes the A-K of diamonds and leads a spade to the jack. It does not matter whether East takes the ace now or later, for in either case declarer loses only one trick and so makes the slam.

Of course, one can argue that this is all very fine, seeing all four hands, but how can anyone be expected to play the hand this way seeing only two hands?

All the same, the fact is that the hand should be played in this fashion because it offers the only real chance for a slam.

If a contract can be made only when the defenders' cards are divided a certain way, one must assume they are divided that way and play accordingly. You will often be disappointed after making the required assumption, but that is nonetheless the correct approach to the play.

New Drug Allays Gout

Has the new drug for gout been proved to be successful?

Mr. F. G., N. Y.

Dear Mr. G.:

I assume that you refer to the drug "allopurinol," which has been in active use for almost ten years.

In gout, there is a high level of uric acid in the blood stream. Some foods, like anchovies, herring and liver, have high "purine" content. These purines are responsible for the formation of uric acid.

The drugs formerly in use for the treatment of gout aimed at extracting uric acid from the blood and pouring it out through the urine.

Now the new drug, "allopurinol," functions in another way. This drug prevents the formation of uric acid from the purine in foods.

The distinction at first may seem to be confusing. Essentially, the difference is this: one drug helps pour out the uric acid once it is formed. Allopurinol prevents the uric acid from forming.

The new drug is not easy to administer. There are many highly technical reasons why patients who start on this drug must be under supervision.

When once its safety is established in each individual case, it can be taken for long periods of time with very satisfactory results. Occasionally, the old and new drugs are taken in combination. Sometimes allopurinol is continued when the body is weaned from the older drugs.

I was taken to the hospital because it was thought that I had appendicitis.

When I got there, the blood count showed that I didn't have appendicitis, but just an ordinary sore throat.

Don't you think the doctor should have been able to tell the difference?

Miss E. G., Wisc.

Dear Miss G.:

The diagnosis of acute appendicitis is probably one of the most difficult ones for a doctor to make.

There are many other conditions that simulate the proverbial "pain in the right lower quadrant" of the abdomen.

Intestinal disturbances, gall bladder disease, constipation, dysentery, typhoid fever are only some of the conditions whose symptoms resemble those of acute appendicitis.

Pneumonia and pleurisy can send sharp, shooting, radiating pains to the appendix area.

Indeed, a sore throat can cause enlargement of the glands in the neck and enlargement of the glands around the intestines. This is known as "mesenteric adenitis," which can give all the symptoms of appendicitis.

You were sent into the hospital as a precaution. Inflammation of the appendix, when not carefully observed, can cause dire complications.

You were given the benefit of your doctor's wisdom. He did indeed "tell the difference when he spared you surgery."

Brown issues rejection of new voting machine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Secretary of State Ted Brown has rejected a new type of voting machine that would allow voters to mark card ballots that could be machine read and tabulated by a "mini-computer."

Brown announced his decision Monday after a three-member board of voting machine examiners recommended against acceptance of the machine, manufactured by Litton Automated Business Systems, Inc.

Not guilty pleas entered on 2 marijuana charges

Two Washington C. H. men charged with possession of marijuana appeared in Municipal Court Monday afternoon and both entered pleas of not guilty.

Acting Judge John Bryan ordered the cases of Marvin R. Evans, 21, Washington Manor Ct., and Bruce E. Shiltz, 19, of 725 John St., continued until July 18.

The pair were arrested by city police early Saturday when officers discovered a quantity of the drug in the glove compartment of a car during a routine traffic arrest.

Shiltz was freed after posting $1,000 bond. Evans was incarcerated in the county jail in lieu of bond.

Charles W. Wheeler, 33, of 516 Fourth St., was given a six-month suspended sentence in the Cincinnati Workhouse and fined $25 and costs on an intoxication charge. Wheeler was arrested by police Sunday night in the alley between Fayette and Main streets, just off East Street.

Acting Judge Bryan suspended the six months workhouse sentence provided that Wheeler make no further appearances before the court.

Paul D. South, 19, of 11223 White Oak Rd., was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty to disorderly conduct by threatening. The charge was filed by Roger Smith.

Greenfield bank affiliates with BancOhio Corp.

COLUMBUS — Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio Corp., announces that effective Monday, The Peoples National Bank of Greenfield has become affiliated with BancOhio.

The finalization of the affiliation transaction, which provided for an exchange of BancOhio common stock for shares of the bank, followed the approval issued by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors on April 10. Peoples National Bank is the fourth bank during 1973 to affiliate with BancOhio, Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company currently reporting assets in excess of $2.7 billion.

Peoples National Bank, with three banking offices in southwestern Ohio's Highland County, brings the number of BancOhio affiliated banks to 36 which operated 177 banking facilities across the state. According to the affiliate agreement, the bank, which reported total assets of $18 million on December 31, 1972, will continue to operate as The Peoples National Bank retaining its present leadership.

For Peoples National Bank, the affiliation with BancOhio will provide, among many specialized banking services, an increased lending capacity to any one customer up to $14 million, made possible through the greater combined resources of all the BancOhio affiliated banks. Another subsidiary of BancOhio, Ohio Banc-Lease, Inc., will bring the benefits of extensive equipment leasing services to Greenfield and surrounding Highland County.

Fair Board accepts bid on new chain link fence

The Fayette County Fair Board faced only a light agenda at its regular meeting Monday night in the Mahan Building.

The board voted to accept the low bid of Wilson Lumber Co. for installation of 1,000 feet of chain link fence along the north side of the grounds. There were two other bids on the project.

The grounds committee was granted approval to purchase metal railing to install a new hub rail on the race track. It is anticipated that these ground improvements will be completed by the opening of the 1973 Fair on July 22.

Board member Robert Cannon was appointed as the representative to meet with Ohio Department of Agriculture officials on June 14. The purpose of the meeting, to be held at the Ohio State Fairground is to explain new regulations regarding the licensing and inspection of concessions at county fairs.

County 4-H Agent Jack Sommers reported that the Junior Fair Board has selected a theme and is progressing with plans for the opening ceremony.

In other routine business, the board discussed parking space for the 1973 fair and approved payment of bills.

President Eddie Kirk conducted the meeting with 12 of the 13 directors present.

MT 'middle school' plan recommended

The Miami Trace School Study Committee, with a strong favorable vote, Monday night chose to recommend to the Fayette County Board of Education that a new school which would house two or three middle grades be considered.

Superintendent Guy M. Foster said the proposal suggested that a school bond issue be placed on the November ballot and that the issue be for a new middle school to accommodate all students in grades 6, 7 and 8 or grades 7 and 8 as the school board and administration might determine.

It was further advised by the committee that the board should not make plans to close any of the elementary buildings immediately, but the buildings should be repaired and maintained at a higher level as part of the bond issue.

The committee recognized that the 11 buildings have different life expectancies and in general are old buildings, and feels a master plan should be adopted by the board for maintenance and final replacement of the buildings as the need arises.

VOTER APPROVAL of the issue would provide for needed regular classrooms, libraries, art and music rooms, storage space and closing of undesirable rooms in the elementary buildings. The committee feels the greatest value would no doubt be realized for the upper elementary students and with the new building could come a curriculum offering art, home economics, industrial arts, physical education, science laboratories, advanced classes and others which could never be realized in all the small operations.

All committee members indicated they feel strongly that the upper elementary or junior high age pupils are being short-changed under the present arrangement.

The recommendation for construction of a new school came after many meetings and school visits during the last few months.

BROOKE BAKER, a Newark architect, presented a summary of his finding from spending two days in the 11 buildings. He determined that the greatest problem was a lack of facilities for junior high pupils and the second ranking problem was the general gloom of the interiors, mainly due to wear and tear on the interior surfaces.

Baker also feels that control of the heating systems is a problem. Some of the strong points he observed were the adequate sites on which the schools are located, fire safety, and sound structural condition. He feels strongly that no additions should be placed on the old buildings.

The recommendation of the committee is to be reviewed thoroughly in the next few weeks with board action expected soon, according to Foster.

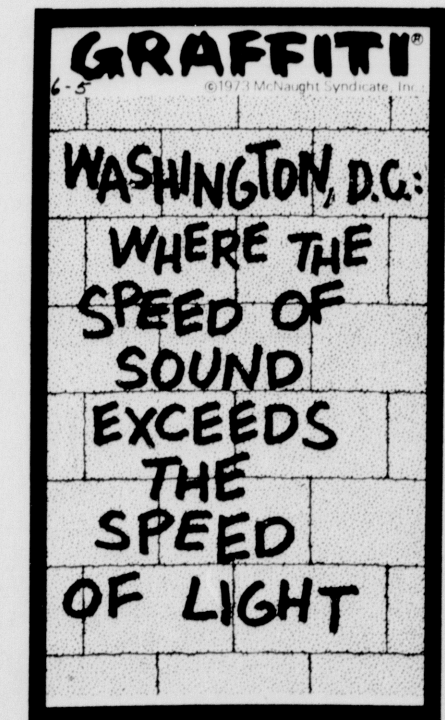

Senate votes on fuel plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate was expected to vote today on a bill requiring the Nixon administration to draw up a nationwide gas and oil distribution plan.

A resolution attached to the bill Monday urges the states to lower their maximum speed limits to 55 miles per hour or by 10 m.p.h., whichever is greater, to conserve fuel.

President Nixon, who was given power by Congress six weeks ago to come up with an allocation plan, decided on a voluntary approach.

But Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., argued Monday that firm, not voluntary, steps are needed because the shortages have been contrived by the oil companies.

Ohio House defeats shield law bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio House today overwhelmingly defeated a proposed constitutional amendment that would allow the legislature to adopt laws protecting newsmen's information sources.

The vote was 62-28. Loud chuckles broke out on the floor as the vote was tallied on the electronic board. Seven legislators spoke against the measure on the floor.

Rep. William B. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, the major sponsor, said the resolution was needed to give a sound constitutional base for Ohio's current shield law protecting newsmen.

Opponents contended it would do little. Rep. Ronald H. Weyandt, D-43

Stormy weather to stay

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thunderstorms raked Ohio again during the night and the last of a number of tornado warnings was lifted at daybreak. Weather forecasters said more of the same could be expected through Wednesday.

A tornado warning issued by the National Weather Service for Darke, Miami and Champaign counties after a funnel cloud was sighted south of Greenville was lifted at 7:45 a.m.

During the previous 12 hours, tornado warnings were in effect at times in Erie, Cuyahoga, Lorain, Franklin, Pickaway, Madison, Fayette, Union, and Auglaize counties.

Funnel clouds were sighted near Huron, Berlin Heights, London, Washington Court House and Youngstown, but apparently none touched down.

High winds uprooted trees, snapped power lines and blew down an 80-foot radio tower at Youngstown, where a half-inch of rain fell during a 15-minute period.

A concrete building was ripped apart by winds south of Findlay, causing some minor injuries.

The National Weather Service said thunderstorm activity will continue through Wednesday as warm, moist unstable gulf air streams northward ahead of a cold front that stretches southwestward to central Texas from a weak low pressure center over northern Wisconsin.

Fast-changing weather conditions should be expected, forecasters said, with sunny periods alternating with thunderstorms.

Highs today were to range from the low 80s in the northwest to the mid and upper 80s in the southeast.

'Funnels' sighted in Fayette County

Noisy thunderstorms swept through Fayette County Monday afternoon and evening, causing scattered power and telephone outages and resulting in two reports of funnel clouds.

The Sheriff's Department received two reports of funnel clouds although neither touched down.

The first funnel reportedly was spotted along U.S. 22 about four miles east of the city at 6:12 p.m. Another was reported at 8:38 p.m. on Ohio 38 near the Children's Home. The second sighting occurred nearly an hour after a tornado warning for the county had been lifted.

Both Ohio Bell Telephone Co., and Dayton Power and Light Co., reported scattered outages due to the storms but no major damage. Several transformers were hit by lightning and DP&L crews were out most of the night repairing damage.

Police and sheriff's department reported they had not received any reports of damage due to the storms, which, with a 3 a.m. rain shower, dropped .72 inches of precipitation on Washington C.H.

Dollar sinks

LONDON (AP) — Confidence in the U.S. dollar continued to sink in Europe today as the American currency hit new lows and the price of gold new highs for the fifth straight day.

Dealers again blamed the dollar's trouble largely on the Watergate scandal, as they have done each business day since the U.S. currency began its latest plunge last Wednesday.

But there appeared to be a difference in atmosphere. For the first time, leading bankers and treasury officials dropped hints that the present system of floating exchange rates may not be enough to avoid another international monetary crisis.

On Monday, the dollar suffered its worst fall of the year on European money markets, dropping two per cent in value against the West German mark and falling sharply against other leading European currencies.

When markets reopened today, the dollar was plunging again. It dropped from 2.6100 West German marks to 2.5850 marks in nervous, active trading, dealers said.

In Paris, the dollar dropped to 4.16 commercial francs.

Akron, asked, "How many times has a person been tried in the newspapers and not in the court?"

Weyandt referred to the Watergate scandal and said, "those people in Washington are being tried right now, whether or not that happens in the courts."

Some lawmakers complained that Batchelder's amendment was unnecessary since Ohio already has a so-called "shield" statute which could be changed without a constitutional amendment.

He said recent decisions by federal courts could invalidate the Ohio law or at least create legal doubts about its status.

MTHS grad follows in brother's footsteps

Glenn Gifford Christman Award winner

Glenn Gifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gifford, Rt. 1, New Holland, was named the 1973 winner of the Clarence A. Christman Award at a dinner meeting Monday night, co-sponsored by The Record-Herald and the Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club, at the Lafayette Inn.

The fourth annual award, named in honor of one of the community's sports enthusiasts — late City Manager Clarence A. Christman Jr. — is designed to single out the most outstanding "Athlete-Scholar-Leader" in Fayette County.

The three-sport participant from Miami Trace High School was presented the award by Bill Junk, last year's winner. Glenn becomes the second member of the Gifford family to receive the award; his brother, Tom, won in 1970.

GIFFORD was selected from a field of eight candidates nominated by head coaches of major sports in Washington Senior and Miami Trace high schools.

He was named the county's most outstanding athletic participant because of his high ranking as a student, his leadership in school activities and his involvement in community projects.

The selection was made last month by a permanent committee of community leaders. Chairman of the committee is John Breiner, and members are Laurence Dumford, the Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, Kenneth Payton, Russell Hatfield, Max Lawrence, Kenneth Craig and George Kuhlwein.

GIFFORD ranked sixth in his senior class of 242 at Miami Trace with an academic average of 3.71. He was vice president of the National Honor Society chapter and was a member of the high school honor roll all four years.

He is a member of the New Holland United Methodist Church, was president of the MTHS senior class, vice president of Student Council, of which he was a member two years, a member of the Hi-Y and Varsity-M clubs, served as a delegate to Buckeye Boys State as a junior and was president of his freshman class.

The 5-foot-8, 160-pounder was nominated by Fred Bernier, former head football coach at Miami Trace. He earned a total of six varsity letters in three sports.

He earned All-South Central Ohio League football honors both his junior and senior years and was named to The Associated Press' Class AAA All-Southeastern Ohio District football team. Gifford won All-SCOL honorable mention honors in basketball.

Gifford joins Bill Junk, 1972; Jeff Blake, 1971; Tom Gifford, 1970, and Don Bennett, 1969, as the winners of the Christman Award.

OTHER outstanding candidates placed in nomination by their head coaches were Mike Domenico, Washington C. H.; Gardner Cobb, Miami Trace; Chuck Bath, Washington C. H.; Tony Grooms, Miami Trace; Chris Shaper, Washington C. H., and Stephan Jones and Jeff Moore, of Miami Trace.

Coaches who attended to formally place their candidates in nomination at the banquet were Maurice Pfeifer and Gary Shaffer, of Washington C. H., and Jan Stauffer, Dave Pellior and Charles Wallace, of Miami Trace. Delmar Mowery, athletic director at Miami Trace, was a guest of the Kiwanis Club.

Mrs. Harmony testifies on Gemstone file

Watergate hearings resume today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Watergate committee today refused to delay its televised hearings, then heard a former Nixon campaign secretary testify that she typed wiretap logs, intelligence memoranda and a phony Democratic document.

The secretary, Sally J. Harmony, denied under questioning that she had told friends that she lied to the Watergate grand jury last year, or that she had been given a trip to Florida as a reward.

The committee's hearings resumed after it unanimously rejected a former request by the new special prosecutor, Archibald Cox, for a three-month delay.

Mrs. Harmony testified she was not aware at the time she did the work that she was typing transcripts of illegal wiretaps. And she did not disclose the contents of those transcripts, conferring with her attorney each time such questions arose. Disclosure of that information has been forbidden by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

She told of notations that information she transcribed from other sources had come from agents called Ruby 1, Ruby 2 and Crystal. Mrs. Harmony said she didn't know who they were.

Mrs. Harmony told of typing transcripts on stationary labeled "Gemstone."

Antioch strikers not giving up

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) — About 30 student strikers picketed the administration building at Antioch College again today, jeering school personnel reporting for work.

The pickets banged on noisemakers, including tambourines, pots and large garbage cans, but permitted employees and students to enter the building.

Greene County Sheriff Russell Bradley said he had no immediate plans to return to the campus for a third confrontation with the hard core of striking students.

"If they just picket and don't interfere, they are not in violation of the court order," Bradley said.

Bradley led more than 100 officers, many of them from surrounding counties, onto the campus for a second time Monday to take down barricades from the administration building.

The amendment provides that the General Assembly may pass laws "which establish a privilege against the disclosure of any information or the source of information, even when said source is an officer of any court, which is procured or obtained by a reporter, journalist, broadcaster, or other similar person."

Joining with Batchelder in introducing the amendment was freshman Rep. Claire M. Ball Jr., R-91 Athens, former Athens County prosecutor. Ball said he and Batchelder became interested in the problem after reading in a Sigma Delta Chi journalism publication about reporters being jailed for refusing to

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the Senate committee, began the session by announcing rejection of the Cox request. He said the panel had decided in executive session that "duty requires it to decline" the delay.

Ervin cited the Senate resolution ordering the investigation, and said his panel does not share the fear expressed by Cox that the courts might permit the guilty to go free because of the televised inquiry.

Furthermore, Ervin said, the committee believes there is a greater likelihood of fair Watergate trials in "an atmosphere of judicial calm" after the Senate investigators have completed their task.

Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., concurred, and said the committee has a responsibility "to conduct the public business in public view."

And so, after a closed session that lasted more than an hour, the Watergate panel called Mrs. Harmony, secretary to Watergate conspirator G. Gordon Liddy when he was counsel at the Finance Committee to Re-elect the President.

Mrs. Harmony, an attractive blonde in her early 40s, testified that she had typed intelligence memoranda and logs of telephone conversations for Liddy. She said the name of R. Spencer

On both occasions, Bradley's deputies managed to avoid any serious incidents and there were no arrests.

A physical education instructor said today he was considering seeking a temporary court restraining order limiting the number of pickets in front of the building.

The campus mood, which had been on the side of the strikers since the school was closed April 20, had obviously changed when the facilities were to reopen for normal activities Monday. Many of the sympathizers said they were "turned off" by widespread vandalism in Antioch Hall, the administration building, which also has some classrooms.

"There is no way I am going to let them make another Kent State out of this," Bradley told a newsman. The tobacco chewing sheriff has chatted disclose information sources.

Sen. Paul E. Gillmor, R-2 Port Clinton, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, has a bill pending that would toughen Ohio's present shield law. It would prevent newsmen from being forced to disclose information obtained but not published or broadcast.

The House and Senate return today from weekend recess with several major items up for consideration, including the administration's $9.9 billion appropriations bill.

A Senate subcommittee headed by Finance Chairman Max H. Dennis, R-10 Wilmington, is expected to trim the Housepassed measure.

Oliver, a Democratic official whose telephone was bugged by the Watergate crew, appeared on some of these logs. But she didn't disclose what was said in the bugged conversations because that would violate wiretapping laws.

Mrs. Harmony said the telephone logs were typed on special colored stationery that bore the word "Gemstone" across the top.

On other occasions, she recalled, she transcribed tape-recorded conversations, apparently between E. Howard Hunt and a spy he had planted inside Sen. George S. McGovern's presidential campaign headquarters. She said the question-and-answer interview dealt with goods and services for the Democratic national convention.

Robert Reisner, a GOP aide who worked under Jeb Stuart Magruder, once the No. 2 man in the Nixon campaign organization, also was scheduled to testify.

Reisner has been named by convicted Watergate conspirator James W. McCord Jr. as one who might be able to support his story that the Watergate bugging operation had the prior approval of Magruder, former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former White House Counsel John W. Dean III. As the hearings in the Senate Caucus

Room continue under official protest, there were these other developments: —The White House said it will not furnish investigators with logs of any conversations between President Nixon and his ousted counsel, Dean, about the Watergate scandal.

The comment was in response to published reports that Dean met with the President 30 to 40 times on various aspects of the Watergate cover-up.

The Washington Post has reported that when Dean is called as a witness he will allege Nixon was deeply in-

Governors keep their hands off bugging scandal

STATELINE, Nev. (AP) — Democrats have decided against trying to bring President Nixon's handling of the Watergate scandal before the National Governors Conference.

They decided to drop any organized Watergate move after some warned that such political issues are taking too much attention here from other national problems.

A suggestion by Democratic Gov. Patrick J. Lucey of Wisconsin that the Watergate affair has so paralyzed the federal government that President Nixon should resign failed to win endorsement from any of his colleagues on Monday.

"I think it is essential to try to focus attention on some of the other critical problems that are facing the country," Democratic Gov. Wendell Anderson of Minnesota told newsmen as the conference turned today to the nation's energy and economic problems.

In a switch of plans, Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was flying here to meet informally with the governors. Many of the governors consider Agnew to be the administration official most sympathetic to their problems because of his prior post as governor of Maryland.

He was expected to receive complaints from governors of both parties about the impact on states of the administration's impoundment of millions in federal funds voted by Congress.

Democrats, meanwhile, were redrafting proposals dealing with the economy and President Nixon's special revenue sharing proposals in hopes of making them acceptable to enough Republicans to gain the needed three-fourths vote when the conference takes up policy resolutions Wednesday.

One resolution calls for a return to strict wage and price controls to curb inflation.

The other urges federal assurances that the states won't suffer economically by the proposed switch from categorical grant programs, each directed at a specific problem, to special revenue sharing, under which states and localities would decide where the federal money would be spent.

GOSHEN, Ohio (AP) — The operators of the Appaloosa horse farm here say the smallest Shetland pony they have ever seen or heard about was born on the farm recently.

The Carmans said other horsemen have predicted that the pony will never be more than 18-20 inches tall when it is full grown. The average Shetland pony is 45 inches tall when fullgrown and most newborn pony colts are 20 inches tall at birth, the Carmans said.

Yablonski murder defendant won't bargain with state

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — The attorney for the lone remaining defendant in the Yablonski murder case has flatly ruled out the possibility that his client will try to strike a bargain with the state.

"That kind of thing happens when a client is interested in seeing what he can bargain for," said Harold Gondelman, attorney for Albert E. Pass, as the latter's murder trial opened Monday in Erie County Court.

"Mr. Pass," Gondelman continued, "says he has nothing to bargain for because he is innocent."

Pass, 52, the highest ranking former official of the United Mine Workers union yet charged in the case, stands accused in the Dec. 31, 1969, slayings of UMW reformist Joseph A. "Jock" Yablonski and Yablonski's wife and daughter. The state claims the murders culminated a union-inspired, union-financed plot.

Pass faces three counts of murder, one for each of the victims, and would face mandatory life imprisonment if convicted of first-degree murder on any or all of the counts.

Gondelman's comment about Pass's innocence, was in response to a

Skylab crew charts space walk plans

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Skylab's astronauts and mission control today charted details for a daring space walk to try to free a jammed solar panel on the orbiting space station.

Success of the unprecedented attempt would nearly double the electricity in the Skylab vehicle. A power shortage is restricting experiments.

Space agency officials decided on Monday that there were no unusual safety hazards. They gave the green light for the effort that will send two of the astronauts outside the station, probably Thursday morning.

"Very good," Skylab commander Charles "Pete" Conrad Jr. remarked when told of the decision. "We'll be ready."

Skylab program director William C. Schneider told newsmen Monday night that Conrad will decide who will take the excursion.

He felt, however, the commander would choose to do the most difficult job, scrambling some 25 feet down the side of the barrel-shaped workshop to attempt to free the panel, with Dr. Joseph K. Kerwin remaining near the open airlock hatch to assist.

The third crewman, Paul J. Weitz, would stay inside the station, radioing procedures to Conrad and Kerwin.

Asked about possible dangers, Schneider replied: "Pete's a smooth and cool cat who won't do anything unreasonable. If he got out there and saw he couldn't do it, he'd come back in."

Astronaut Russell Schweickart, the backup Skylab commander, has been practicing the space walk procedures in a huge water tank which provided some sensation of weightlessness. He briefed Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz by radio Monday night.

Schweickart told them to review the plans today and a lengthy conference would be held tonight between the astronauts and mission control.

newsman's question regarding "plea bargaining," a practice by which defendants sometimes enter guilty pleas to charges less serious than the ones originally filed against them in hopes of reciprocity from the state.

"That's a moot question in this case," Gondelman said, "since Mr. Pass says he is innocent."

Only one juror, a youthful, slender farmer, had been seated by the time the first day's proceedings drew to a close Monday.

He was Ronald E. Wetmore, 26, a college graduate and father of two who operates a dairy farm with his own father and brother near the southern Erie County community of Union City.

Wetmore, who promptly was sequestered upon his selection, was the 42nd prospective juror interviewed in nearly 4½ hours of screening Monday.

In all, 45 persons were examined. The defense exercised seven of its 20 allotted peremptory challenges in rejecting prospects it found unacceptable, and the prosecution exercised three. Most of the remainder were excused for reasons of personal hardship.

Senate Democrats call for freeze on wages, prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring President Nixon's economic controls a failure, Senate Democrats are pushing legislation to freeze wages and prices for 90 days.

In a unanimous vote Monday, the Senate Democratic caucus vowed to take immediate steps to bring the proposal to a floor vote by attaching it to any appropriate bill.

The resolution endorsed by the caucus calls for a mandatory freeze of prices, profits, wages and salaries, rents, and consumer interest rates.

The caucus declared Nixon's Phase 3 economic controls "an unmitigated failure," and said "prices are now rising at the fastest rate in 22 years."

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., sponsor of the resolution, added, "Everybody, businessmen as well as economists and others, agrees that Phase 3 has been a disaster."

Majority Leader Mike Mansfield told newsmen following the closed session that 33 or 34 of the 57 Senate Democrats attended and none dissented.

The resolution commits Senate Democrats to attach a mandatory-freeze provision "to the first appropriate bill coming before the Senate."

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a resolution co-sponsor, said the best vehicle might be a bill raising the ceiling on the national debt because it would be difficult for Nixon to veto.

The caucus action portends a new clash with the administration which is sticking by the relaxed controls of Phase 3. Advocates of a freeze may have picked up support since March and April when the Senate on two occasions defeated measures imposing a six-month freeze.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Monday that an across-the-board freeze is too drastic but "some form of selective controls may be needed."

Meanwhile, the administration tightened some price regulations for hospitals and nursing homes but

ROME (AP) — A nationwide "day of silence" strike by normally vocal journalists plunged Italy into a news blackout today.

Printers and television personnel struck in sympathy.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Oozing oil has formed a long, thin slick in the Santa Barbara Channel. And officials today were trying to learn if the seepage came from drilling or natural leakage.

The slick, about four miles long and 25 yards wide, was about 10 miles up the coast from here, the Coast Guard said.

TOKYO (AP) — Another attempt by North Vietnam to persuade China to bury some, if not all, of its differences with the Soviet Union has surfaced during a visit by Hanoi leaders to Peking.

This was suggested in the speech of North Vietnamese Communist party chief Le Duan at a banquet given Monday by Premier Chou En-lai.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—United Rubber Workers were returning to work at B.F. Goodrich Co. plants in Ohio and Indiana today as the URW negotiators refused on the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

URW President Peter Bommarito said the URW wants to reopen talks with Goodyear to achieve fringe benefit increases similar to those in the tentative Goodrich settlement.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States today proposed creation of a new international committee to administer conventions against pollution of the oceans.

The proposal was made by Russell E. Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, in a speech prepared for delivery in London to the Council of the Inter-Governmental Maritime Consultative Organization (IMCO).

NEW YORK (AP) — City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, a low-key campaigner who emphasized management expertise, finished first in the four-man Democratic primary for mayor but was forced into a runoff.

Beame, who lost the race for mayor in 1965, failed Monday to get the 40 per cent necessary to avoid a runoff June 26 with Rep. Herman Badillo, who placed second. Badillo took the most liberal stance of the mayoral candidates.

promised an easing of controls over the construction industry.

Chairman John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council advised construction contractors and unions to act now to avoid "the mess" existing in the industry prior to government controls.

Lightning kills 2 near Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Jack Algeo, 38, and his son Mike, 12, were killed at nearby Lake Snowden Monday night when lightning struck a tree under which they had sought shelter from a thunderstorm.

Their bodies were found today by a search party.

Athens County Sheriff Paul Brown said Algeo, a former professional golfer, and the boy apparently had been fishing and pulled their boat in to get out of the rain.

Most recently an Athens businessman, Algeo was associated in the 1960s with professional golfer Dow Finsterwald, who also is from this area, and later was an assistant pro at the Chagrin Valley Country Club near Cleveland.

State Senate due to award challenged seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Senate may make a decision this week to settle a contested state Senate seat.

The dispute, almost seven months old, involves Sen. Gene Slagle, D-26 Galion, who temporarily holds the seat pending a final decision by the Senate. He is challenged by former Sen. Robin Turner of Marion.

The dispute is being settled with a seldom-used Ohio law which provides for the Supreme Court to receive all evidence, then turn the matter over to the Senate to make a decision.

Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, whose Elections Committee has been studying the dispute, said "I think we are about ready to make our decision, probably this week."

Turner lost to Slagle in the November election by 152 votes, then went to the Supreme Court under the statute permits ballot candidates contest an election.

Turner maintained that he should be declared the winner because there were balloting irregularities in the 26th District, which includes all or parts of eight counties.

He said his and Slagle's names were not rotated on ballots in Marion County, as the law requires, and that ballots were not kept under lock and key in Crawford County. An official recount resulted in Turner losing four votes.

Aronoff's committee, which has had the case about two months, faced a major problem because the GOP Senate majority could be increased from 17-16 to 18-15 if it removes Slagle.

Republicans dominate the committee 5-4. Senate GOP leaders do not feel secure with the one-vote advantage because of possible defections from GOP positions.

Stocks make slight gains

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices moved higher today after opening lower in what analysts said was a technical rally after five days of steep declines.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 9.79 at 895.70. The Dow had closed Monday down to 885.91, its lowest point in 18 months. Big Board advancing issues today outpaced losers 694 to 492 in slow trading.

The analysts said that while the negative factors—Watergate, the dollar crisis, soaring gold, and higher interest rates—were still present, the market was ripe for a technical rally as the Dow industrials approached 880.

On the American Stock Exchange, the price-change index was up .01 at 22.38. The Amex volume leader was Bowmar Instrument, up ¼ at 21½ after slipping more than 3 points the previous day.

The New York Stock Exchange's broad-based index of some 1,500 common shares was up 0.54 at 54.82.

Eastern Air Lines, down ¼ at 9¼ was the Big Board volume leader.

Food stamp fraud blamed for industrial absenteeism

Car pools seen as one answer to car pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Would free parking prod you into organizing a car pool to work? How about a book of trading stamps each month for riding in a car pool—or walking or bicycling to work?

The mortgage banking firm of Walker & Dunlop of Washington posed those questions to employees last fall. So far, it reports, more than half are collecting the bonus.

The idea, of course, is to cut down on auto pollution by cutting down on auto usage.

A District of Columbia proposal to charge a $1 daily tax on each auto in a parking lot sparked the car-pool plan.

"In the process of opposing that proposal we decided that business people had to think up other solutions for the downtown parking and air pollution problems," said company spokesman Moira DeWilde.

The $1 tax failed to pass but the car-pool plan kept building.

Of the firm's 90 employees, 51 now participate. Some of those who don't really would like to but can't because they need a car in their work, said Mrs. DeWilde. She reported that seven employees collect the free parking—a sizable item in a city where downtown rates can run $2.50 to $3 and up on a daily basis. The firm pays $25 a month under a package deal with an adjacent lot, Mrs. DeWilde added.

The trading stamps cost $135 a month.

Carol Church is typical of those in the plan. She drove to work alone for 10 years. Every now and then she'd try the bus and give up in despair over the 40 minutes needed to travel the two miles from her home. Walking wasn't the answer and bicycling "proved just too hazardous in all that traffic."

The offer of free parking set her to looking for co-workers who lived nearby. She found one, who now collects the trading stamps.

Tree limb falls on auto; man slightly injured

A Washington C.H. man was slightly injured Monday afternoon when a large tree limb fell on top of a car under which he was working, police reported.

Officers said Robert Crider Jr., was working under a car owned by Doris Crider, 543 Leesburg Avenue, when the limb fell from a tree in a neighboring yard. The car was parked in the drive at the Doris Crider home at the time.

Crider suffered a laceration of the head and left leg. The hood and antenna of the 1964 model car were damaged.

An Eastside man was treated at Memorial Hospital after he took approximately 10 sleeping pills. The man was intoxicated at the time, police said. He was released following treatment.

Planning agencies study cooperation

Representatives of city, county and regional planning agencies met Monday night for a general discussion on ways to create a closer working relationship among the agencies.

Although no decisions were made at the meeting, members of the individual agencies are to discuss the suggestions which were presented.

Spanish monarchy may be in trouble

MADRID (AP) — Teetering on the brink of a monarchy, Spain is watching the end of one in Greece with more than passing interest.

Officially, there has been no reaction, and none is expected. But the dethroning of King Constantine of Greece, brother-in-law of Spain's future king, brings events close to home.

Friends of Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon say nothing has impressed the future Spanish ruler more than what has happened to Constantine.

Designated by Gen. Francisco Franco, supported by the army and the government hierarchy, the 35-year-old prince intends to do nothing to erode that support, informants say.

Underscoring this view was the prince's presence Sunday beside the 80-year-old chief of state reviewing the annual parade commemorating Franco's victory in the Spanish Civil War. With Franco's wife was Princess Sofia, Constantine's sister and Juan Carlos' wife, who rushed back to Madrid from Rome after seeing her brother.

Constantine and his family have been frequent visitors to Zarzuela Palace.

Driver charged after collision

A driver was cited in one of two minor traffic accidents reported in Washington C.H. Monday by city police.

Eva W. Jett, 69, Greenfield was charged with a stop sign violation following a two-car collision at the intersection of Main Street and Circle Avenue Monday morning.

Police said the Jett car was northbound on Main Street and ran through the stop sign at the intersection, colliding with an eastbound car driven by Kenneth E. Sanderson, 19, of 507 Third St. Both cars were moderately damaged.

Cars driven by Peggy J. Jones, 31, Rt. 4, and Thomas Martin, 65, Rt. 6, were involved in a collision in the municipal parking lot at 3:05 p.m. Officers said both cars were backing from parking spaces when they bumped. Damage was slight.

Sabina Council studies plans for new subdivision

SABINA — Sabina Council met Monday night in a short session with discussion focused on facilities for a new subdivision.

Extension of the sewer system, addition to and improvement of streets, and proposed lighting for the subdivision were all discussed and will be considered in more depth at future meetings.

Routine bills were paid, and first reading was given to an ordinance which will close an alley off College Street. This was drawn up at the request of property owners adjacent to the alley.

11-day work stoppage ends at Lucasville state prison

LUCASVILLE, Ohio (AP) — An 11-day work stoppage by inmates at the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville has ended and meetings were scheduled today between prison officials and representatives of a prisoners' union.

A union spokesman said Corrections Chief Bennett Cooper agreed to a meeting. The spokesman said an agreement will be sought with Cooper setting up negotiating procedures for inmates.

The superintendent of the Lucasville facility, Wilfred Whealon, said strike leaders still face disciplinary action.

More than half of the 966 inmates at the new prison took part in the strike. It was called by the Ohio Prisoners Union to press demands for higher pay and changes in parole board procedures.

Corrections officials said legislative action is required to settle most of the grievances. Officials said there were proper procedures which strikers did not follow for airing inmate complaints.

Prison officials last week interviewed inmates and segregated them into three groups—those wishing to resume normal activities, those wishing to resume the normal activities but wanting protection, and those wanting to take part in the strike. The decision to segregate inmate groups was termed a "strike-breaking tactic" by the union.

The union spokesman said the strike was halted as a demonstration of good faith and an effort to remove tension and threats from the discussions.

A change in command

Tonight marks the change in command of the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce. Jerry Sheppard will turn over the reins of the organization to Fred Domenico who already has appointed committees and established a program of work for the 1973-74 year which officially begins July 1.

The Chamber, which is often thought to be a group of businessmen looking out for their own selfish interests, is more of a community developer. Its stated purpose of "Advancing the civic, economic and social welfare of the people of Washington C.H. and Fayette County" was proved during the past year.

The Physicians Committee of the organization attracted a new doctor to the community. The Education Committee set the wheels in motion for a community school concept which may become a reality within the next year. The entire Chamber has worked to assist a major industry to locate in Washington C.H. The Ambassadors have served as the greeters of new businesses to the community which not only provide services for the residents but provide jobs.

These are only a few of the areas in which the chamber has worked during the past year, and President Sheppard, the directors, other officers and members should be commended for the work they have done.

Plans for the new Chamber year are to be announced tonight at the annual banquet. President-elect Domenico has established 17 project areas to carry on the past work and to begin projects in new areas.

The annual membership campaign will begin the morning after the banquet. A goal of 450 members has been set to carry out the proposed work during the next season. A budget of $27,000, financed almost entirely with membership dues, has been adopted and includes the salaries of a full-time administrator, a secretary, and the same overhead expenses, such as rent, utilities, postage and printing, as any other business.

The program-of-work brochure, which will be distributed at the banquet, states that the board of directors believe that "your support and involvement in the coming year will make our community a better place in which to live, work and play." We also believe this.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Cult of Mao Chinese Stabilizer

YENAN, China — This loess country where the dust blows and the sun beats down was the cradle of China's revolution.

Here Mao Tse-tung completed the blueprint for the movement that was to transform China and shake the world. The cave dwellings and the primitive conference halls where the first soviets met are preserved as shrines.

Even though it has been tidied up for the Chinese who come as pilgrims to see where it all started, it was obviously a stern and rugged beginning.

So much has happened since 1935, when Yen'an was the capital of the first Chinese Communist state and surrounded by such an overwhelming hostile force that on Mao's decision the hardy survivors of the long march moved on to a more remote retreat.

Today the Chinese people are fed as perhaps never before in their history. The scourge of epidemics that took millions of lives has been eliminated. While there is a shortage of fully trained medical men, 1,300,000 "barefoot doctors" with six months of instruction in treating common ailments serve in even the remotest provinces.

But how to preserve the momentum of the revolution in an era of at least comparative prosperity with a new generation for whom the trials and tribulations of the founders is history? How to make sure that a new elite with special privileges will not arise?

THESE ARE questions that trouble the leadership. In its initiation the cultural revolution had, with the blessing of Mao, the goal of shaking up a bureaucracy grown too remote from the people. The excesses of the six or seven years of that revolution will long be debated.

In his long discussion with this reporter before we took off for Yen'an, Premier Chou En-lai talked about revolutions. Sometimes they go backward, he said.

This was true in the Soviet Union during the 10 years between Nikita Khrushchev and the ascendancy of Leonid Brezhnev. The Russians in pedaling backward toward revisionism, the ultimate sin, have

IN THE DEBATE over an agreed communiqué during the Nixon visit an interval of waiting followed each stage when, it was assumed, Mao was being consulted. From Premier Chou down to the lowest level Mao is credited with all major decisions.

As he has done before, Chou related how the chairman had initiated the telephone call to the American ping-pong team in Japan inviting them to Peking, the start of ping-pong diplomacy.

The cult of Mao, the cherished conviction of the supreme helmsman, is the stabilizer. In pauses between their labors — hard physical labor — workers read aloud to one another the sayings of Chairman Mao. Those sayings are apparently meant to be like the tablets Moses handed down from Mt. Sinai with a long reach into the future.

Scorning the Russians with their revisionism and their drive for hegemony, Chou warns against relaxation. Relaxation can undo all that has been achieved. Behind the deceptive talk of peace in the West, there is turmoil under the sun, and China must be prepared with the stern origins in Yen'an as heroic model for the future.

Dear Abby:

Readers sound off on euthanasia

DEAR ABBY: If you never do another thing for humanity as long as you live, you should go down in history for taking a stand against prolonging the life of the terminally ill by means of gadgets and tubes. The "Living Will" which permits a person to express his wishes concerning his own fate should he become helpless beyond recovery was never more needed than it is today.

It is a shame that some of these doctors can't see those patients each day after they are transferred from the hospital to nursing homes to die slowly, and also see the families day by day as they sit helplessly by and watch their loved ones go through the painful slow dying process. Sometimes the patient is reduced to a vegetable, while the physical, emotional, and financial strain on the family is devastating. I just can't believe that God ever intended that anyone should be put through this kind of ordeal, or that doctors should practice this type of medicine.

I write this letter after watching a long drawn out death in my own family, and I want to say that your letter could do untold good in the prevention of such tragedies. Bless you for publishing information that may start people thinking about the plight of these pitiful old people whose lives are prolonged by tubes, and the families who become destitute during the process.

YOUR FRIEND IN DURHAM, N.C.
MISS VAN BUREN: You are not an authority on anything. Who do you think you are? God? God determines who shall die and when-not you or anyone else. May I deserve euthanasia if I ever read your stinking rotten column again!

A BELIEVER IN BUFFALO
DEAR ABBY: In response to your views on death and dying, as a member of the clergy, I would like to say one thing: AMEN! God loves you.

TED S. SPONSEL, Pastor
Bayshore Baptist Church
Daly City, Cal.

DEAR ABBY: Dying with dignity is important, but there are greater values. One of our sisters is dying a slow and painful death from cancer. I picked up her Bible to read to her and it fell open to Paul's letter to Colossians where she had marked the passage: "It makes me happy to suffer for you, as I am suffering now, and in my own body to do what I can to make up all that has still to be undergone by Christ for the sake of his body, the Church."

Abby, that sister is doing more for us now by patient suffering that she did even as an outstanding superior and administrator. Suffering can be redemptive. God will give us strength to bear whatever He permits to happen to us, if we but trust Him.

SISTER DANIEL, Daughter
Of Charity St. Louis

NEW YORK (AP) — The Watergate show on television resumes today on a one-day-per-network trail basis. This means NBC has the live coverage duty today, CBS Wednesday and ABC Thursday.

All three networks televised the first five days of hearings live. Alas, that coverage may have befuddled the viewer's memory. To test whether you recall the correct casts of the game shows, the soap operas and the hearings, here is a brief quiz:

"Three on a Match" stars (a) H.R. Haldeman; (b) John D. Ehrlichman; (c) Jeb Stuart Magruder; (d) none of these.

"Search for Tomorrow" stars (a) E. Howard Hunt; (b) G. Gordon Liddy; (c) Maxwell Smart; (d) every Washington reporter.

"Let's Make a Deal" (a)

John Dean III; (b) Amarillo Slim; (c) a used Skylab dealer; (d) a butcher faced with a week's meat supply and a four-week boycott.

"The Who, What or Where Game" stars (a) the CIA; (b) the FBI; (c) Jack Anderson; (d) Watergate's official scorer.

"What's My Line" stars (a) the Republican National Committee; (b) the Democratic National Committee; (c) every official in Washington; (d) the annual Orlando, Fla., shad derby.

"Guiding Light" stars (a) Ron Ziegler; (b) the State Department; (c) usually reliable sources; (d) some of these.

"Secret Storm" stars (a) the White House; (b) the Florida White House; (c) the Western White House; (d) all of These.

You'll find the right answers by tuning in each day.

Ohio Perspective

Bill against VD gains support

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill to curb venereal disease, which supporters say is "outranked only by the common cold" in Ohio is expected to gain passage in the 110th General Assembly.

Already approved in the Senate and awaiting House action, the bill would require physicians to test pregnant women for gonorrhea the same as they already test for syphilis.

Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, is the main sponsor of the legislation, which has a priority endorsement of the Ohio Department of Health and other groups alarmed about the spread of VD.

The senator said that while gonorrhea is "not as lethal" as syphilis, it nevertheless "is one of Ohio's greatest health problems" and can have devastating effects on a mother's unborn child.

"Syphilis and gonorrhea together are outranked only by the common cold in Ohio," Jackson said. He said he had seen the statistics on the problem.

Monday wouldn't be a deterrent to operation of the testing, under the bill's provisions. It specifies that if a patient is unable to afford the tests—for either disease—the Health Department will make it without charge. A requirement for a physician to certify that the patient is unable to pay is taken out of the law.

In reporting a birth or stillbirth, the physician or other person required to make such reports would have to state whether a mother was tested during pregnancy, or as soon as possible after delivery.

The health directors of city or general health districts would be given some discretion in the law. The bill says that they may waive the reporting requirement under certain circumstances.

A waiver would be authorized if the director was satisfied the tests were contrary to a woman's religion, or if he was satisfied that the public health and welfare would not be "injuriously affected."

Two other bills dealing with VD have been introduced in the House by Rep. Donald Pease, D-54 Oberlin, chairman of the House Education Committee.

One of his proposals would require local boards of health to provide free treatment for VD and the other would require courses on the subject to be taught in the state's public schools.

OUTLOOK FOR MEAT

Spring and summer mean cook-outs for many families and this means increased demand for the tender, broilable cuts of meat usually preferred for this type of cookery. This may be a good time to keep an eye open for specials on cuts that are less popular during this season of the year. You may want to try a chuck roast, for example, cut into cubes, marinated and used for kabobs — fine for grilling. WHAT ABOUT PRICES?

Lots of factors affect the cost of the meat you buy. This includes costs to the rancher of raising the meat animal, costs of slaughter and processing, transportation costs, cost of selling meat at retail (butcher, packaging, etc.) and the costs of maintaining quality and sanitation standards in accordance with government regulations.

In addition, meat costs are affected by adverse weather conditions (of which we have had plenty this year). Late winter storms were responsible for the death of many new calves and young cattle in the Midwest. This and other factors will affect the supply available in late '73 and early '74.

With demand continuing at high levels, it appears that meat prices, especially beef, will stay at or near the ceiling levels for the next month or two.

A STEER IS NOT ALL STEAK!

Only about twelve per cent of a steer is broilable steak. This is because these most tender cuts come from the less-used muscles of the body located in the middle sections of the back, called the rib and loin sections. These rib and loin sections are more tender and suitable for broiling.

Even though we'd like it to be different, it just isn't possible to produce cattle that are all steak. To get more beef from each animal, cattle producers have been constantly improving the lean yield of their cattle. But, no matter how you slice it, there's no avoiding the fact that steers are definitely not all steak!

A 1,000 lb. live steer is reduced to a 600 lb. carcass after slaughter. It is then sold to a packer who further reduces the weight by trimming away about 162 lbs. of fat, bone and other waste, leaving about 438 lbs. of salable beef. That 438 lbs. of beef will provide approximately 88 lbs. of chuck, 86 lbs. of round cuts, 80 lbs. of loin cuts, 67 lbs. of ground beef, 62 lbs. of lean trim, 37 lbs. of rib cuts, 13 lbs. of boneless brisket, 3 lbs. of flank steak and 2 lbs. of miscellaneous cuts. Thus, only about 44 per cent of the live animal ends up as "take home" beef, and only about 12 per cent ends up as broiling steaks.

Fruitful suggestions

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

AMERICANS often serve fruit as a first course, sometimes as a salad. In Europe, it is more often a dessert because its flavor has a natural sweetness that is supremely suitable for the grand finale of a banquet-size meal. But fruit can go anywhere on the menu. The point is to enjoy its goodness whenever you can.

Right now, the state of Washington is flooding the market with Washington red and golden Delicious apples. Good on their own, they are extra good when teamed with rhubarb, the sweet-tart fruit of spring. For this mold, the fruit flavors of apples, rhubarb, raspberries and pineapple are combined. Great for dessert, you can also accompany chicken, ham or lamb with:

APPLE-RHUBARB MOLD
1 (12-ounce) package frozen rhubarb or 1½ cup cooked, fresh rhubarb
2 (3-ounce) packages raspberry-flavor gelatin

1 (12-ounce) can (1½ cups) unsweetened pineapple juice
½ cup water
2 to 3 Washington red or golden Delicious apples, pared, cored and chopped to measure 2 cups

Cook rhubarb according to package directions. Stir in gelatin; cook and stir over medium heat until gelatin dissolves. Stir in pineapple juice and the water. Chill until mixture is partially set. Stir in chopped apples. Spoon into a 6-cup ring mold. Chill until firm, 4 to 6 hours.

Makes 8 to 10 servings.
Abounding with fruit flavor, this dessert is a quick-and-easy pudding-cake. It's easy to make. There is no need to dissolve the gelatin or to mix the cake mix. They go into the baking dish in layers as do the apples and rhubarb.

APPLE-RHUBARB DESSERT
2 or 3 Washington red or golden Delicious apples, pared, cored and chopped to measure 2 cups
2 cups fresh or frozen rhubarb, cut in one-inch pieces
¾ cup sugar
1 (3-ounce) package strawberry-flavor gelatin
½ package yellow cake mix
½ cup water
1½ cup butter, melted

Put alternate layers of the first five ingredients and the ½ cup water in a 9 x 13-inch pan. Drizzle butter over the top.
Bake in moderate, 350 degree F., oven for 1 hour. Serve with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.
The Italians have a proverb that applies to this recipe. It is, "Never tell the peasants how good is a pear with cheese." Why? Because then the combination would become so popular it would no longer be considered a treat. Pears and cheese are marvelous together. Serve fresh pears with blue cheese or Switzerland Swiss for dessert, or try delicious canned Bartlett pears with Cheddar cheese in this recipe for:

MONEY DOES MATTER . . .

By R. W. Tice

BELIEVE IT - YOU CAN REALLY SAVE WHEN YOU SPEND!

Spending money is one way of saving money, if you watch what you are doing!

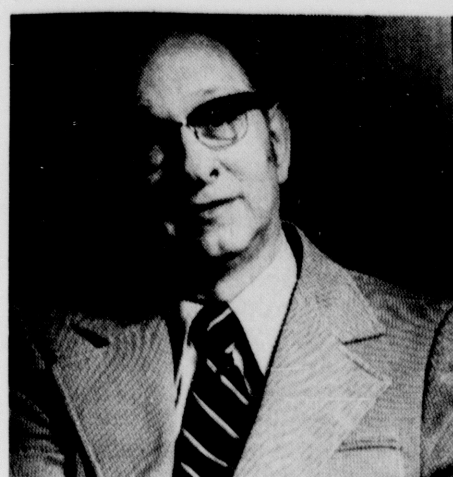

Take buying clothes, for example. You'll consider 4 things, if you get your money's worth:

Planning: Develop your wardrobe around the clothes you already have and look for variety through accessories. Stay with one or two main color schemes.

Fit: Do not buy oversized clothes for children, but look for ample seams, deep hems or cuffs, and future alteration possibilities.

Fabrics: Carefully consider present day synthetics. Read the labels and instructions, follow cleaning directions, and watch size purchases, unless shrinkable of less than 1 per cent is guaranteed.

Timing: While a bargain is only a bargain if you need it, real savings can often be had if seasonal sales are anticipated and your buying time is planned accordingly.

Congratulations to all the graduates of the local high schools and may their future bring them the success they deserve.

Harrelson's injury adds to Mets' woes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Would you like to have Willie Mays in center field, Cleon Jones in left, John Milner at first base, Bud Harrelson at shortstop and Jerry Grote behind the plate?

So would the New York Mets. The New Yorkers' incredible run of injuries continued along with their recent slide Monday night when Harrelson suffered a fractured bone in his left hand during a 5-0 loss to the Cincinnati Reds and became the latest candidate for the disabled list.

Jones and Grote are currently on the list while Milner and Mays are recent removals, although Mays has yet to see action since coming off.

It was the fifth consecutive defeat for Jon Matlack, 2-8. The Rookie of the Year in 1972 hasn't won since April 28. Nor has he escaped the injury bugaboo. He suffered a hairline skull fracture when hit by a line drive last month and missed a couple of starts.

Elsewhere in the National League, the San Francisco Giants whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-2 and the Houston Astros blanked the Philadelphia Phillies 7-0.

In the only American League action, the Milwaukee Brewers edged the Oakland A's 2-0 and the Boston Red Sox

Morgan shakes Matlack

Billingham stymies Mets with 3-hitter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joe Morgan didn't get a hit in Cincinnati's 5-0 win over the New York Mets Monday night, but he stole the show as far as pitcher Jack Billingham was concerned.

"Walking Joe did it," said Billingham, who won his eighth game in 10 decisions with a three-hitter.

Billingham credited Morgan with unnerving Mets' pitcher Jon Matlack, as the New York lefty was working on a no-hitter with two out in the sixth inning.

Morgan walked, stole his 24th base of the season and drew three throws from Matlack as he danced off second base.

"Joe had him all messed up and he wound up throwing a hanging curve," said Billingham.

Dave Concepcion, who earlier broke up a no-hitter by Los Angeles' Al Downing, drilled the pitch to ceterfield and the Reds went on to score four runs in the inning.

"On the bases was the only place I was going to bother him," quipped Morgan. "I wasn't going to bother him at the plate. I don't know how he can be 2-8. I can name 20 lefthanders I'd rather face than him."

Concepcion agreed that it was Morgan's distraction that did it.

"I think he was worrying about Joe when he pitched to me," said the Cincinnati shortstop, who is having his finest season in the majors.

Billingham, who started Saturday's game with Pittsburgh but was removed in the first inning when struck on the heel by a line drive, then handcuffed the Mets. It was the New Yorkers third shutout in the last four games.

Homers featured in BRL preview

Home runs were featured in the first annual Babe Ruth League preview game held this weekend at Rossmann Field.

A total of four home runs were cracked in the game which saw all of the eight Babe Ruth teams play two innings each. Mark Jones belted a grand slam homer and Gary Burieth hit a home run for the Medics, while David Stackhouse, of Willis, and Brian Smith, of Sabina, also slammed round-trippers.

Officials say Canterbury is ready for PGA tourney

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—PGA officials and three of the pros who will play in the PGA Championships in August now have looked at Cleveland's Canterbury golf course. The consensus is that few changes will be needed to prepare the course for the tournament.

Biggest changes will be longer grass in the rough and shorter yardage on one hole, No. 13. The 13th now is a par five, 490-yards. For the pros it will play 472 yards at par four.

That will cut the overall course length to 6,859 yards, par 36-35-71.

If the rough is tougher, the pros will find it a little easier to stay out of than did Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player in their "Round of Champions" Tuesday.

Joe Black, a PGA vice president who accompanied Nicklaus and Player, said some of Canterbury's narrow fairways will be widened slightly for the tournament.

The 18th hole, a 438-yard, par-four, is only 26 yards wide in the driving area—the section of the fairway the pros will be trying to hit with their tee shots.

Other fairways likely to be widened include the fifth, 10th and 13th, Black said.

Player, Nicklaus and Chi Chi Rodriguez, who played Canterbury a few weeks ago, agreed the course will present a tough challenge to the pros.

"A tremendous test," said Player, who found only one hole he didn't like. "I don't like No. 16," said the South African. "You can't see the green, even on your third shot."

Bob Purkey's son lies near death, physicians baffled

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — Bob Purkey Jr. felt good. He and his teammates, among the best junior college baseball players in the nation, were back from an afternoon of fun and were completing the day with a romp in the motel swimming pool.

He sat at the edge of the warm, shallow water of the Frontier Motor Lodge pool, talking idly to his friends and probably thinking of the National Junior College Baseball Tournament in which they would play their first game the next night.

There was no warning—not in any of his 18 years, not in any of the seconds before 9:50 p.m. on May 24 when something failed in his chest and stopped his heart.

"I was talking to the other boys, and he just fell over on me," said Robert McSpadden, a dean at the Panama City, Fla., college Purkey attends.

McSpadden and some of the players got the 6-foot-2, 200-pound youth out of the water, and Coach William Frazier started giving him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while someone ran to a telephone.

The city fire department's rescue squad answered the emergency call at 9:52 p.m.

At 10:05 p.m., Purkey was in the emergency room of St. Mary's Hospital.

Robert T. Purkey Jr., son of a former major league pitcher and a top pitcher himself at Gulf Coast Junior College, has not been conscious since his attack.

He has been in a coma and listed in critical but relatively stable condition in the intensive care unit.

What happened to Bob Purkey Jr.? Why has an athlete who his father says was always "healthy as an ox" collapsed suddenly and lain for days in the twilight between life and death? Doctors are not certain what happened.

Cerebral hemorrhage has been ruled out. A spinal tap was performed soon after Purkey suffered the attack, and the resultant absence of blood proved there was no blood vessel rupture in the brain.

The youth's heart beat and other vital signs stabilized after he was in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Purkey Sr. of Bethel Park, Pa., have made the hospital their home since they arrived May 25.

A Gulf Coast team official said the incident traumatized the other players, who lost their first game chiefly because they felt guilty playing baseball while their teammate was critically ill.

Bob Purkey Sr. helped remedy that situation by sitting behind the Gulf Coast dugout for every game from May 26 through the final game Thursday—not specifically to inspire them to win, he said, but because his son would have wanted his friends to play their best in the national tournament.

The team eventually finished second.

"It was a long time coming," said Billingham, who had went after his eighth win in three previous starts.

The loss was the Mets eighth in the last 11 games, but worse, was the mounting injury list.

Shortstop Bud Harrelson was injured in a collision at second base while making a double play and suffered a finger fracture in his glove hand. A cast was applied and a doctor said he would be disabled for a month.

Cleon Jones and Jerry Grote, both regulars, are on the disabled list already and reserve catcher Jerry May's injury at San Diego was diagnosed Monday as a hamstring pull that will sideline him indefinitely.

Tonight, it's Jerry Koosman, 5-4, for the Mets against Ross Grimsley, 5-4.

3 road projects win tentative board approval

Three road projects with a total cost estimate of $73,590.56 received tentative approval from the Fayette County Board of Commissioners Monday.

The resurfacing projects are on Worthington Road between U.S. 62 and Greenfield-Sabina Road, White Oak Road between West Road and Harrison Road, and Robinson Road from the current project to Ohio 753.

County Engineer Charles P. Wagner was authorized to advertise for bids on the projects. The bids will be opened at 11 a.m. June 25 in the commissioners' office.

The commissioners approved requests by County Recorder Lorin M. Armbrust to attend the Ohio Recorders' Association executive meeting in Columbus on June 6 and the Ohio Committee of County Officials meeting in Columbus on June 14.

The dog warden reported that 40 complaints were investigated during the past week.

A $3,500 note on the Anders Ditch project was renewed.

Thunderstorms, tornadoes hit Midwest U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Showers and thunderstorms washed the nation's midsection today after erupting into dozens of tornadoes Monday from the central Plains to the Ohio Valley.

Thirty-six tornadoes were sighted Monday, according to the National Weather Service. Damage estimates ranged as high as $200,000 at St. Peters, Mo., where about 30 homes were damaged.

No injuries were reported. Property damage, downed power lines, uprooted trees and overturned cars and mobile homes were common in scattered areas throughout the Midwest.

Radio station towers at Youngstown, Ohio, and Edwardsville, Ill., were snapped by high winds generated by the twisters. Winds gusted to 60 miles per hour in thunderstorms in central Illinois and Missouri.

A tornado watch was in effect early today in parts of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Missouri.

Rainfall was heavy in places. Vichy, Mo., was hit with over 2 inches of rain. Park Falls, Wis., received more than 1½ inches; and Sedalia, Mo., and Eau Claire, Wis., got more than an inch.

Thundershowers were scattered over the Rockies and around Florida.

Fair, warm and humid conditions prevailed from Texas across the Gulf States, and much of New England was humid under cloudy skies.

Clear and pleasant conditions dominated almost the entire Far West.

New Scientist board chairman stresses action

Do more to "help humanity through spiritual means" was the appeal heard in Boston Monday by about 12,000 Christian Scientists from around the world, including several from Ohio.

David E. Sleeper, new chairman of the Christian Science Board of Directors, said at the annual meeting that interest in Christian healing is growing in various countries but much more remains to be done.

"The whole human race," he said, "needs the ministering, healing, saving support of the Christ. And we can serve that Christian purpose better than we're doing."

According to Mrs. Virginia C. Otis, assistant committee on publication for the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Washington C. H., the five-year goal of the denomination — increased emphasis on spiritual healing — is being vigorously emphasized at the local level.

Suspect nabbed in bank robbery

SIDNEY, Ohio (AP)—A suspect bank robber was arrested Monday after a shootout with Sheriff's deputies and Ohio highway patrolmen in rural southern Shelby County.

Police did not identify the suspect, but said a large quantity of cash was confiscated.

The gunman fled to the area after allegedly robbing a branch of the Citizens Baughman Bank in Sidney. The amount of money taken was not disclosed.

At one point the man reportedly stole a police cruiser. He was caught following a 30-minute chase on foot, police said.

Extra-high platform shoes have been criticized by driver education instructors as possibly hindering brake and gas pedal maneuverability.

Acting Judge John Bryan ordered the cases of Marvin R. Evans, 21, Washington Manor Ct., and Bruce E. Shiltz, 19, of 725 John St., continued until July 18.

The pair were arrested by city police early Saturday when officers discovered a quantity of the drug in the glove compartment of a car during a routine traffic arrest.

Greenfield bank affiliates with BancOhio Corp.

COLUMBUS — Philip F. Searle, president and chief executive officer of BancOhio Corp., announces that effective Monday, The Peoples National Bank of Greenfield has become affiliated with BancOhio.

The finalization of the affiliation transaction, which provided for an exchange of BancOhio common stock for shares of the bank, followed the approval issued by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors on April 10. Peoples National Bank is the fourth bank during 1973 to affiliate with BancOhio, Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company currently reporting assets in excess of $2.7 billion.

Peoples National Bank, with three banking offices in southwestern Ohio's Highland County, brings the number of BancOhio affiliated banks to 36 which operated 177 banking facilities across the state. According to the affiliation agreement, the bank, which reported total assets of $18 million on December 31, 1972, will continue to operate as The Peoples National Bank retaining its present leadership.

For Peoples National Bank, the affiliation with BancOhio will provide, among many specialized banking services, an increased lending capacity to any one customer up to $14 million, made possible through the greater combined resources of all the BancOhio affiliated banks. Another subsidiary of BancOhio, Ohio Banc-Lease, Inc., will bring the benefits of extensive equipment leasing services to Greenfield and surrounding Highland County.

Fair Board accepts bid on new chain link fence

The Fayette County Fair Board faced only a light agenda at its regular meeting Monday night in the Mahan Building.

The grounds committee was granted approval to purchase metal railing to install a new hub rail on the race track. It is anticipated that these ground improvements will be completed by the opening of the 1973 Fair on July 22.

Board member Robert Cannon was appointed as the representative to meet with Ohio Department of Agriculture officials on June 14. The purpose of the meeting, to be held at the Ohio State Fairground is to explain new regulations regarding the licensing and inspection of concessions at county fairs.
